Panthers:..... 17th Season

Jerry Richardson is a native Carolinian whose dream was to bring NFL football and the world championship he knew as a player in the League to his home. With the Panthers in their second decade, Richardson has firmly established the NFL into the Carolina landscape while dedicating his efforts to making the rest of his vision a reality.

On October 26, 1993, Richardson became the first former NFL player since George Halas to become an owner when the Carolinas were unanimously awarded the NFL's 29th franchise.

A lifelong resident of the Carolinas, Richardson and his wife, Rosalind Sallenger Richardson, have two sons, Jon and Mark, and a daughter, Ashley Richardson Allen, of Charlotte. The Richardsons have nine grandchildren and live in Charlotte.

Edited Excerpt from Johnny Unitas: America's Quarterback

A Lasting Impression

Jerry Richardson, a tall, shy receiver was one of the newcomers to the Colts in 1959. Like Unitas, he came from a small college. He had played college football in South Carolina at Wofford College, and Richardson always seemed to be explaining just where Wofford was. There were approximately one dozen other receivers running around trying to make a lasting impression, one that would enable them to fill the sole spot on the roster. Richardson's chances were not exactly promising, being taken in the 13th round and the 153rd player overall.

Unitas saw the underdog in Richardson, who had married his college sweetheart, Rosalind Sallenger. When training camp opened for the 1959 season, Richardson had no way to get to practice, so Unitas helped him out. He picked him up in the front of the rented house every morning to drive him to camp. They got along fine. Unitas didn't talk, and neither did the rookie, which suited them both.

The Touchdown Catch

Late in the 1959 championship game, was Baltimore head coach Weeb Ewbank thinking of a field goal to give the Colts an eight point lead in the 4th quarter against the New York Giants? Richardson, the rookie receiver Unitas chauffeured during training camp was waiting to return the favor by bringing in the play that Ewbank wanted.

"I stood next to Weeb and looked at him for the play," recalls Richardson. "I finally asked him what the play was and he remarked, 'Just tell Unitas to score.'"

Given the opportunity to score a seemingly safe field goal or a touchdown Unitas would always go for the six points.

"Raymond Berry was split on the left and would make his cut into the middle underneath the linebacker. I lined up close to the tackle and would swing wide to the outside. It really was Berry's play all the way. He had done it a thousand times. But Unitas looked off Berry, and I looked around and saw the ball coming to me. I squeezed it tight and went into the end zone standing up. I never expected the ball and neither did the Giants."

The rookie's touchdown was the clincher. The Colts moved closer to the championship with a 21-9 lead.

Danny MORRISON

president

College:..... Wofford
Birthdate:..... 10/26/53
NFL: 1st Season
Panthers:..... 1st Season

Danny Morrison was named President of the Carolina Panthers September 2, 2009, but his association with the organization began many years earlier when he oversaw the implementation of the team's training camp at Wofford College. Prior to joining the Panthers, Morrison was in his fifth year as Director of Athletics at Texas Christian University.

Morrison's relationship with the Panthers began in the team's inaugural 1995 season at Wofford College. As Director of Athletics he coordinated a fundraising effort that enabled the school to refurbish its facilities to host an NFL training camp. The Panthers have now been at Wofford for 16 straight years and the training camp is regarded among the best in the NFL.

In his capacity as team president Morrison is responsible for the Panthers business operations and Bank of America Stadium business interests as well as representing the organization in many league matters.

Since assuming duties as president, Morrison has been immersed in learning the intricacies of the National Football League and has proven a quick study. If the Texas Christian University athletic program is an indicator, accomplishment will follow with the Panthers as well.

Morrison directed the development of TCU into one of the most successful college programs in the nation. During his four years at TCU, he helped usher the Horned Frogs into the Mountain West Conference. In the 2008-2009 athletic season TCU had 16 of its 20 sports represented in postseason play, finishing with the nations 7th ranked football team.

A total of 12 sports were nationally ranked and four conference titles were won with three coaches receiving coach of the year honors. Five of the school's 20 programs were ranked in the top eleven in the nation.

The solid footing established under Morrison was revealed even after his departure when the football team recorded an undefeated regular season and the baseball team advanced to the College World Series. TCU and Florida were the only two schools in college athletics to play in a BCS Bowl game and have a team in the College World Series.

Prior to going to TCU in 2005 Morrison was Commissioner of the Southern Conference. He had joined the conference office after leaving Wofford, where he was senior vice president, in 2001.

As Commissioner of the Southern Conference, Morrison established numerous progressive initiatives, creating partnerships with corporate entities while expanding and enhancing the television schedule for the conference through various networks.

A native of Burlington, NC, Morrison attended Wofford, where he lettered four years in basketball and graduated summa cum laude and Phi Beta Kappa in 1975 with a Bachelor of Arts in mathematics. His pursuit of excellence as athletics director earned him induction into the Wofford Athletics Hall of Fame in 2002.

Morrison obtained a Masters of Education in administration and supervision from the University of North Carolina in 1981 and a doctorate in educational leadership from the University of South Carolina in 2000.

He returned to Wofford in 1985 as the school's first full time Director of Athletics and served in that capacity for 12 years, guiding the Terriers from NAIA to Division II to Division 1-AA and membership in the Southern Conference.

The linchpin of that transition was the improvement of the facilities to provide a summer home for the Panthers through a capital improvement plan. Through his guiding efforts, the Panthers began training camp at the school in 1995 and Wofford has successfully transitioned into the Southern Conference, winning the football championship in 2003 and the basketball title in 2010.

Morrison and his wife, Peggy, have two children: Trey, a graduate of the University of South Carolina, and Meg, who received her degree from Wofford.

John FOX head coach

College:..... San Diego State
 Birthdate:..... 2/8/55
 NFL: 22nd Season
 Panthers:..... 9th Season

There are few challenges John Fox has not met and answered while becoming the winningest coach in the history of the Carolina Panthers. As a result, the Panthers have totaled 76 victories under Fox, made three playoff appearances, reached two NFC Championship games and a Super Bowl and won two NFC South titles and an NFC Championship in seven seasons.

In compiling a 71-57 regular season record and a 5-3 postseason mark, Fox has demonstrated a remarkable consistency while guiding his team through the peaks and valleys that accompany an NFL season. Between 2002 and 2009, the Panthers were one of only four NFL teams not to sustain a double digit losing season.

Resiliency has characterized Fox's run with the Panthers and never was that trait needed more than in the 2009 season. Faced with the loss of both tackles and its starting quarterback, the Panthers rebounded to win four of their last five games. It was the latest in a series of notable accomplishments for the Panthers head coach.

- In his first year, the Panthers were coming off a one-win season that included 15 consecutive losses and responded with a six-game improvement under Fox to go 7-9 in 2002.
- A year later, Carolina struggled through a three-game losing streak following a 5-0 start, but Fox steadied the ship, and the Panthers eventually reached the Super Bowl after winning the NFC South title.
- In 2004, Carolina started the season 1-7 while losing its three top running backs but recovered to win six of the last eight games and narrowly missed the playoffs.
- In 2005, a gut-wrenching home loss to Dallas put the Panthers playoff hopes in jeopardy, but Fox rallied the team for a season-ending win at Atlanta and directed Carolina to the NFC Championship game.
- Two years later, Carolina became the first team in a decade to win at least one game with four different starting quarterbacks, carving out seven victories after an elbow injury sidelined starter Jake Delhomme for the season.
- In 2009 the Panthers equaled a team record with 12 victories and won the NFC South for a second time under Fox.

Fox has shown an ability to win in a variety of ways. The dramatic improvement from 2001 to 2002 was the result of a defense that jumped from 31st to second in the NFL under Fox's guidance. The 2003 Super Bowl team combined a running game powered by Stephen Davis and DeShaun Foster with a strong defense, and the 2005 playoff team parlayed the aerial attack of Delhomme and Steve Smith to reach NFC Championship Game. In winning the 2008 NFC South title, the Panthers rode an offense that ranked seventh in the League in scoring off a record setting running attack.

Under Fox, the Panthers have averaged nearly 10 wins a season and have developed into one of the most consistent teams in the NFL. In those eight seasons, Carolina won at least at least seven games every season. Only four teams – Carolina, Denver, New England, and Indianapolis—did not experience a double digit losing season during that time.

While Delhomme was a staple at quarterback for most of the time, Fox also showed the ability to win games with rookies such as Matt Moore or veterans like the ageless Vinnie Testaverde, who became the oldest quarterback to win as a starter in League history in 2007. When Davis and Foster went down to injuries in 2004, unknown Nick Goings rushed for five 100-yard games to ignite a late season playoff bid.

Fox has made a habit of being at his best in the direst situations or when the stakes are the highest. Carolina's

5-3 playoff record under Fox is one of the best winning percentages in the NFL. In compiling that mark, he has put his name alongside some of the game's coaching royalty with the following achievements:

- The Panthers four consecutive playoff road victories under Fox tied the NFL record held by the Dallas Cowboys under Tom Landry.
- With four postseason road victories, Fox trails only Landry (seven) and Joe Gibbs (five).
- In guiding the Panthers to the Super Bowl in 2003, Fox joined Vince Lombardi and Bill Parcells as the only coaches in NFL history to inherit a one-win team and take it to the playoffs two years later.

However, those accomplishments only begin to tell Fox's story. The 41 wins in his first four years more than doubled the Panthers total in the previous four seasons (20).

His impact was immediate. In his first season, Carolina improved its record by six games, going from 1-15 in 2001 to 7-9 in 2002. The six-game improvement was the best in the NFL that season and the best jump for a rookie head coach since the League instituted the 16-game schedule in 1978.

That success laid the foundation for his second season as the Panthers, a consensus last-place preseason selection, stunned the experts by winning the NFC South before advancing to the Super Bowl with playoff wins versus Dallas, at St. Louis and at Philadelphia. The victory over the Rams stopped a 14-game St. Louis home winning streak in the fifth-longest overtime game in League history.

The 2004 season saw Fox again at his best in an adverse situation as injuries derailed a promising season and the Panthers were mired in last place midway through the season at 1-7. Faced with a depleted roster and the greatest challenge of his short head-coaching career, Fox responded by leading Carolina to six wins in the final eight weeks, narrowly missing a second consecutive playoff berth.

The strong finish set up another playoff run by Carolina in 2005 as the Panthers recorded an 11-5 regular season mark to make the NFC postseason as a Wild Card. Once again, Fox was at his best when his team had to win the final week of the regular season on the road at Atlanta following a heartbreaking loss at home to Dallas when the Panthers responded with a 44-11 victory. Then came playoff wins at the New York Giants and at the Chicago Bears before a loss in the NFC Championship game at Seattle.

In 2006, the Panthers lost three starters in their opening game, but managed an 8-8 record to provide back-to-back non-losing seasons for the first time in team history.

His success is no surprise to those who know him best, particularly Panthers General Manager Marty Hurney, who worked with Fox in San Diego in the 1990's.

"He has it," says Hurney. "He has great people skills. He listens to everybody, and he has defensive expertise. And he has a tremendous presence. When he walks down the hall, he affects everybody."

It was those intangibles, combined with a thorough knowledge of the game that led the Panthers to Fox in 2002. And the fruits of Fox's labor are evident on every level.

Six different defensive players have gone to the Pro Bowl since his arrival with defensive end Julius Peppers making three straight Pro Bowls between 2004 and 2006. Defensive tackle Kris Jenkins played in two under Fox's tutelage, while defensive end Mike Rucker and linebackers Dan Morgan and Mark Fields were named to the team once. In 2008, Peppers made five trips to postseason all-star game under Fox and linebacker Jon Beason has been twice. On offense, wide receiver Steve Smith has made three appearances, tackle Jordan Gross and center Ryan Kalil one along with one each for quarterback Jake Delhomme, guard Mike Wahle, running back Stephen Davis.

Changing the mindset was equally important and possibly more challenging than improving the personnel upon his arrival in Carolina. After going 3-16 in games decided by three points or less from 1999-2002, the Panthers tied an NFL record with seven victories by three-points-or-less in 2003. Seven times they drove for the game-winning score in overtime or with less than two minutes remaining in regulation during the regular season.

The Panthers opened Fox's first season with a 10-7 victory over Baltimore, ending the long losing streak and setting the tone for a season that included several milestones:

- The six-game improvement was the largest in the NFL in 2002, and only two previous rookie head coaches had a more significant impact on their team's record since the NFL implemented a 16-game schedule in 1978; Jim Haslett in 2000 and Bobby Ross in 1992.

- Carolina's defense became the only unit since the NFL merger in 1970 to improve to second in the NFL in overall defense after placing last the previous season.
- The Panthers ranked in the top five of 10 different defensive categories, leading the NFL in rushing yards per attempt and sacks per pass play and ranking second in third down efficiency and third in first downs allowed per game.
- The 52 sacks recorded by Carolina in 2002 more than doubled the total of the previous season and is the second-most in team history.

Fox's ability to adjust and move forward was never more evident than in 2004 when the Panthers became just the third team since 1990 to finish with seven wins after starting 1-7 and the sixth team since 1974 to follow up a 1-7 start with seven victories.

In the face of losing Smith at wide receiver, Jenkins at defensive tackle and Davis at running back, Fox fell back on a couple of his favorite euphemisms: "Everybody starts out a nobody," and "If we didn't think you were good, you wouldn't be here."

The words proved prophetic as former undrafted free agent running back Goings responded with five 100-yard games, rookie wide receiver Keary Colbert caught 47 passes and Travele Wharton, another rookie, stepped in as a starter on the offensive line.

In Fox's first season as head coach, the Panthers started 3-0 but lost eight consecutive games amid suspensions, injuries and assorted setbacks. Though on the ropes, Carolina never buckled and rallied to win four of its final five games.

After an 8-2 start in 2003, the Panthers slipped into a three-game losing streak. However, Fox again steadied the ship and Carolina regrouped to win its final three games and the NFC South division.

The team's first playoff appearance since 1996 resulted in some of the most memorable moments in team history. Hosting the NFC Wild Card game against Dallas, the Panthers won convincingly, 29-10, accumulating 380 yards against the NFL's top ranked defense while not committing a turnover or a penalty.

A week later, the Panthers played the fifth-longest game in League history, topping St. Louis, 29-23, in the second overtime to stop the 14-game home winning streak by the Rams. Then, Carolina won its first NFC Championship by defeating Philadelphia, 14-3, on the road.

Fox culminated a 20-year odyssey when he was named head coach of the Carolina Panthers on January 26, 2002. Regarded as one of the top defensive coaches in the NFL, Fox proved to be the right choice at the right time for the franchise. Production, work ethic, enthusiasm and high energy were ingredients he brought to Carolina.

It is fitting that Fox achieved his opportunity the old fashioned way, working his way up from a graduate assistant in 1978 and making 12 stops in 17 years before being named defensive coordinator of the New York Giants in 1997. Seizing that opportunity, he annually produced highly regarded units for the Giants, known for their all-out play as well as their production.

His style and philosophy are as grounded as his career path to Carolina. It is a combination that caught the Panthers attention, for in Fox, the son of a Navy SEAL, they found a man whose passion for the game is matched by the zeal of his players on the field.

If Fox coaches with a passion, it could be that he had something to prove after so many stops. Boise, Idaho. Ames, Iowa. Lawrence, Kansas. They were all on his resumé before reaching the NFL as a secondary coach for the Pittsburgh Steelers in 1989. Even then he stayed on the move - San Diego from 1992-1993, Oakland from 1994-1995, St. Louis in 1996 before reaching the Giants as defensive coordinator.

At New York, the accolades began to build, reaching a crescendo in New York's shutout of high-powered Minnesota in the 2001 NFC Championship. The Vikings entered the game averaging more than 25 points while passing for nearly 260 yards per game. Against Fox's defense, the totals were zero points and 60 yards through the air.

It was a performance that had been building in the regular season when New York allowed only 62 first downs rushing, well below the NFL average of 98. Three opponents gained less than 200 total yards. However, it was consistency that characterized his units. During Fox's five years as coordinator, New York had 153 takeaways, the seventh-highest total in the NFC. The Giants also had a plus 25 turnover differential that ranked third in the conference and fourth in the League over the period. Pass pressure was another trademark of Fox's units. Under his tutelage, New York recorded 230 sacks, ranking third in the NFL. In 2001, Michael Strahan set a League individual record with 22.5 sacks.

Like Carolina as head coach, Fox's impact was immediate upon his arrival in New York. In 1997, Fox orchestrated a defense that led the NFL with a club record 44 takeaways and ranked first in the League in interceptions with 27. That edition of the Giants defense tied for third in the League in sacks with 54, the fourth-best total in team history. The defense was second in the NFC against the run at 90.7 yards per game and held opponents to 20 or fewer points in 12-of-16 games, including 10 or less in six of those contests.

Fox was honored as Pro Football Weekly's Assistant Coach of the Year. However, his success as a coordinator did not begin with the Giants. Before serving as a consultant to the Rams in 1996, he engineered the Oakland Raiders defense to a 10th place finish in total defense in 1994 and 11th in 1995.

Before joining Oakland, Fox was the secondary coach under Bobby Ross at San Diego in 1992 and 1993. Fox started his NFL coaching career with the Pittsburgh Steelers as a defensive back coach from 1989-1991, overseeing the top rated pass defense in 1990.

Fox moved to the Steelers from the University of Pittsburgh, where he served as defensive coordinator and secondary coach for the Panthers from 1986-1988. In each of his three seasons, the Pittsburgh pass defense was statistically ranked among the top 10 in the nation.

Prior to his three-year stay at Pittsburgh, Fox made eight moves in as many seasons as he worked his way through the coaching ranks, including a foray in professional football with the Los Angeles Express of the USFL in 1985.

Starting as a graduate assistant at his alma mater of San Diego State in 1978, Fox became an assistant at United States International University a year later and made a succession of moves to Boise State (1980), Long Beach State (1981), Utah (1982), Kansas (1983) and Iowa State (1984).

A native of Virginia Beach, VA, Fox was born February 8, 1955, and grew up in the San Diego area after moving at age 15. He attended Castle Park High School in Chula Vista and played football at Southwestern Junior College in Chula Vista (1974-75) before going to San Diego State, where he played defensive back for the Aztecs. He graduated from San Diego State with a bachelor's degree in physical education and earned a secondary education teaching credential in 1977.

Fox and his wife, Robin, have three sons: Matthew, Mark and Cody, and a daughter, Halle. Along with his football accomplishments, Fox has been a community leader in the Carolinas. He and Robin co-chairs in fundraising effort benefiting St. Jude Children's Research Hospital and last summer he participated in an NFL sponsored USO tour to visit troops in the Persian Gulf.

Jim SKIPPER

assistant head coach/running backs

College:..... Whittier College
 Birthdate:..... 1/23/49
 NFL:..... 23rd Season
 Panthers:..... 9th Season

COACHING: Resourcefulness and ingenuity are only two of the characteristics that led John Fox to promote Jim Skipper to assistant head coach, but they may be the qualities that have served him best as running backs coach since 2002. Last year Skipper avoided the mix-and-match approach that characterized his early tenure with Carolina and the result was the first pair of running backs in League history to rush for 1,100 yards in the same season.

Jonathan Stewart's 1,133 yards combined with 1,117 by DeAngelo Williams set a new standard in NFL history. A year earlier the duo had rewritten the Panthers record book as Williams set a team mark of 1,515 yards rushing with 18 touchdowns and Stewart added a rookie record 836 yards and 10 scores.

In 2008 the Panthers rushed for a single game team record 299 rushing yards against the Tampa Bay Bucs, breaking the previous team mark of 264-yards set earlier in the '08 season against Detroit. Whether Stephen Davis, DeShaun Foster, Nick Goings, Brad Hoover, Williams or Stewart, Skipper has consistently coaxed the best out of the Panthers running backs.

His best effort may have come in 2004 when Carolina started four different players at halfback because of injuries. During the last eight games of the 2004 campaign, Goings, a former undrafted free agent, recorded five 100-yard rushing games. Since joining the Panthers, Skipper has used nine different starting halfbacks, and seven of those have produced 100-yard contests.

With a healthy backfield contingent in 2003, Skipper coached the Panthers to a team record 2,091 yards rushing while helping Davis set a club individual record with 1,444 yards on the way to a Pro Bowl season. During his first year in Carolina, Skipper nurtured the Panthers running game to a 214-yard improvement over the 2001 campaign despite losing starter Lamar Smith after 11 games and Foster for the season in training camp.

A coaching veteran with more than 30 years of experience, including 22 in the NFL, Skipper came to Carolina after spending four years with the New York Giants and 2001 as head coach of the XFL's San Francisco Demons. He began his NFL coaching career as running backs coach with the New Orleans Saints in 1986 and served in that capacity through 1995. During his 10-year tenure with New Orleans, Skipper coached two Pro Bowlers, Rueben Mayes in 1986 and 1987 and Dalton Hilliard in 1989. Mayes' 1,353 yards in 1986 and Hilliard's 1,262 in 1989 still stand among the 10 highest single-season rushing totals in Saints history.

Skipper moved to Arizona in 1996 and coached with the Cardinals for one season, in which fullback Larry Centers was named to the Pro Bowl. Following his stint with the Cardinals, Skipper assumed the same role with the New York Giants from 1997-2000. In his first season with New York, the team finished seventh in the NFL in rushing with an average of 124.3 yards per game. As an XFL head coach, Skipper led the Demons to a 5-5 record and a playoff berth, advancing to the league championship game. Skipper entered coaching as the defensive backs coach at Cal Poly-Pomona in 1974 before joining San Jose State in 1977. He switched to offense as running backs coach at Pacific in 1979 and then coached running backs at Oregon from 1980-82. Skipper made his foray into the professional coaching ranks with the USFL's Philadelphia/Baltimore Stars from 1983-85.

PLAYING AND PERSONAL: A graduate of Whittier College, Skipper played defensive back and also served as a kick and punt returner for the Poets. Born January 23, 1949, in Breaux Bridge, LA, he grew up in Brawley, CA. Skipper and his wife, ElMarie, have three sons, Kelly, Timmy and Courtney. Kelly is the running backs coach for the Oakland Raiders. Timmy, who is the linebackers coach at Fresno State, played linebacker at Fresno State from 1997-2000. Courtney is an academic advisor at Arizona State. In a unique distinction, Skipper coached running back Lorenzo Neal at New Orleans, and Skipper's son Kelly coached Neal in college at Fresno State. DeShaun Foster also was coached by Kelly at UCLA.

HISTORY: Defensive back Whittier College 1971-72. College coach: Cal Poly-Pomona 1974-76, San Jose State 1977-78, Pacific 1979, Oregon 1980-82. Pro coach: Philadelphia/Baltimore Stars (USFL) 1983-85, New Orleans Saints 1986-95, Arizona Cardinals 1996, New York Giants 1997-2000, San Francisco Demons (XFL) 2001 (head coach), joined Panthers in 2002.

Jeff DAVIDSON offensive coordinator

College:.....Ohio State
Birthdate:.....10/3/67
NFL:.....16th Season
Panthers:.....4th Season

COACHING: Jeff has made a significant imprint on the Panthers in his three years as offensive coordinator, establishing the Panthers as one of the top running teams in the NFL. Carolina has finished 3rd in League rushing in back-to-back seasons as Jeff has created a staple in the Panthers offense.

Changes at quarterback have created challenges in the passing game. Only once in those years have the Panthers gone from start to finish with the same quarterback under Davidson and Carolina finished 7th in scoring that season.

Change was the constant for Jeff in his first season as offensive coordinator of the Panthers. Four different quarterbacks never started more than three games in a row, but Davidson still coaxed the second best rushing season in team history while Carolina became the first team in ten years to win at least one game with four different starting quarterbacks.

Davidson joined the Panthers as offensive coordinator after two seasons in Cleveland following a most successful eight-year stint at New England. While with the Patriots, he contributed to four division titles, five playoff appearances, three conference titles and three Super Bowl championships as the tight ends/assistant offensive line coach from 1997-2004.

Over those ten years he experienced challenges of every nature in preparation for a full season as an offensive coordinator. His units in Cleveland were decimated by injuries while the time in New England was characterized by remarkable stability. Davidson met both with the same resolve.

His success with the Patriots led Jeff to Cleveland in 2005 as offensive line coach, and his impact was immediate when he helped the Browns break a twenty-year drought without a 1,000 yard rusher. Reuben Droughns easily eclipsed that milestone with 1,232 yards behind an offensive line, which included three new starters.

The offensive line was bludgeoned with injuries in 2006 as Davidson's role was expanded six games into the season when he was named offensive coordinator. Despite the setbacks, tight end Kellen Winslow and wide receiver Braylon Edwards had breakthrough seasons with 89 and 61 receptions, respectively.

A member of New England's staff in 2004, he and offensive line coach, Dante Scarnecchia, worked with a unit that saw only three lineup changes during the entire season as the Patriots won Super Bowl XXXIX. The Patriots proved adept at running and passing as Corey Dillon rushed for 1,535 yards and quarterback Tom Brady was sacked only 26 times, sixth fewest in the NFL. Meanwhile, the New England tight ends, under Davidson's tutelage, combined for 11 touchdowns and nine pass plays of 20 yards or more.

His coaching career with the Patriots was characterized by a high level of play from the tight ends as well as the offensive line. As tight ends coach in 1997, he helped Ben Coates emerge as the team's reception leader with 66, which secured a Pro Bowl berth. He moved to assist on the offensive line for four seasons but again saw his duties expanded to include the tight ends in 2002 and tripled the receiving production for the position from the previous season.

Davidson began his NFL coaching career in 1995 as a volunteer assistant with the New Orleans Saints. A year later he was named offensive assistant, responsible for the breakdown of game tapes, opponent scouting and self scouting in addition to maintaining a number of on-field coaching responsibilities.

PLAYING AND PERSONAL: Coaching success is an extension of his playing career. A fifth-round draft choice of the Denver Broncos in 1990, Davidson moved into the starting lineup in his second season. He started 16 games in 1991 at left tackle and every game the following season at left guard. After signing with the Saints in 1994, a shoulder injury seven games into the season ended his career. Prior to the NFL, Davidson earned All-Big Ten honors as a senior and was a four-year letterman at Ohio State.

A native of Akron, Ohio, Jeff was born October 3, 1967 and attended Westerville North High School, where he earned Parade All-American honors as a senior. Jeff and his wife, Judi, have two sons, Nick and A.J.

HISTORY: Offensive Tackle Ohio State 1986-89. Pro Offensive Lineman: Denver 1990-1992, New Orleans, 1994. Pro coach: New Orleans 1995-1996, New England 1997-2004, Cleveland 2005-2006, joined Panthers in 2007.

Ron MEEKS defensive coordinator

College:.....Arkansas State
 Birthdate:.....8/27/54
 NFL:.....20th Season
 Panthers:.....2nd Season

COACHING: In his first season as defensive coordinator Ron Meeks moved the Panthers back among the elite of the League, finishing eighth in yards allowed and ninth in scoring. Ron came to Carolina from Indianapolis, where the Colts ranked among the top seven in the NFL in points allowed five time between 2002 and 2008.

The Panthers scoring total was even more impressive considering that seven touchdowns were scored via returns, but was consistent with the quality of work Meeks has produced.

Under Meeks' direction, the Colts produced one of the best defensive performances in franchise history in 2007. They led the NFL in scoring defense with 262 points allowed and finished third in total defense – the team's highest rating since 1971 – by surrendering just 279.7 yards per game. Additionally, Indianapolis generated the second-most take-aways in the league with 37 and tied for second with 22 interceptions. Safety Bob Sanders was named the Associated Press Defensive Player of the Year.

In 2006, Meeks battled through injuries on a unit that peaked during the playoffs, holding three-of-four opponents to less than 100 yards rushing en route to a Super Bowl XLI championship. During the 2005 campaign, the Colts stood second in the NFL in scoring defense, yielding only 247 points – the lowest 16-game total in club history. Indianapolis' stingy defense held six opponents to nine points or less. Three players: defensive end Dwight Freeney, linebacker Cato June and Sanders, earned Pro Bowl honors.

The previous season, the Colts were first in the NFL with a plus-19 turnover margin after forcing 36 turnovers, which tied for third in the league. The defense also collected 45 sacks, which tied for third in the NFL, as Freeney set a team record with a league-leading 16 quarterback takedowns. In Meeks' first year in 2002, Indianapolis improved from 29th to eighth in the NFL in total defense and jumped from 31st to seventh in scoring defense.

Meeks joined Indianapolis from St. Louis, where he served as the secondary coach in 2001 and helped revitalize the defense. The Rams climbed from 27th to 10th in the NFL against the pass and won the NFC Championship, one season after Meeks coached the Washington Redskins defensive backs to a league rating of second against the pass in 2000.

From 1997-99 he tutored the defensive backs coach with Atlanta. The Falcons were one of three NFC teams to limit opponents to less than 200 yards passing per game in 1999, and two members of Meeks' secondary, cornerback Ray Buchanan and safety Eugene Robinson, made the Pro Bowl in 1998 when the Falcons won the NFC Championship.

Meeks began his NFL coaching career with Dallas in 1991 as a defensive assistant before spending five seasons as the defensive backs coach with Cincinnati from 1992-96. The Bengals led the NFL with 34 interceptions in 1996. Twice during his tenure, they ranked in the top 10 in the league in pass defense, placing ninth in 1994 and second in 1993.

He started his coaching career at his alma mater, Arkansas State, in 1984 prior to handling the defensive backs at Miami (FL) from 1986-87, New Mexico State in 1988 and Fresno State from 1989-90.

PLAYING AND PERSONAL: Meeks attended Arkansas State from 1972-76 and then played five seasons in the Canadian Football League as a defensive back for the Hamilton TigerCats, Ottawa Rough Riders and Toronto Argonauts. He has four children, Jayson, Clayton, Quenton and Sadie, and one stepson, Christopher.

HISTORY: Defensive back: Arkansas State 1972-76. Pro defensive back: Hamilton Tiger-Cats (CFL) 1977-79, Ottawa Rough Riders (CFL) 1979, Toronto Argonauts (CFL) 1980-81. College coach: Arkansas State 1984-85, Miami (FL) 1986-87, New Mexico State 1988, Fresno State 1989-1990. Pro coach: Dallas Cowboys 1991, Cincinnati Bengals 1992-96, Atlanta Falcons 1997-99, Washington Redskins 2000, St. Louis Rams 2001, Indianapolis Colts 2002-08, joined Panthers in 2009.

Brian BAKER defensive line

College:..... Maryland
Birthdate:..... 6/20/62
NFL:..... 15th Season
Panthers:..... 2nd Season

COACHING: Brian Baker's enthusiastic and animated style of coaching made an immediate impact last season with the Panthers. Despite an unsettled situation at the left defensive tackle position for much of the season, Baker developed a line that was productive and efficient. A veteran of 14 seasons as an NFL assistant and 12 as a college coach – including 12 in the Atlantic Coast Conference – Baker was named the Panthers defensive line coach on February 13, 2009 following three years in the same position with the St. Louis Rams.

The Panthers were 17th in sacks per pass play and the defensive line accounted for 25.5 of the team's 33 sacks. That rush provided the impetus for a pass defense that was 4th in the NFL in both pass yards and percentage of passes intercepted.

In 2008, Baker presided over a St. Louis defensive line that accounted for 20 of the team's 30 sacks and ranked 11th in the NFL in sacks per pass play. During the 2006 season, he coached defensive end Leonard Little, who tied for fifth in the league with 13 sacks, and defensive tackle La'Roi Glover, who collected 5.5 sacks – the sixth most by a defensive tackle in the NFC.

Prior to joining the Rams, Baker spent five years with Minnesota, serving as defensive line coach in 2001 and 2004-05 and linebackers coach from 2002-03. He was instrumental in the development of defensive tackle Kevin Williams, who made the Pro Bowl and earned Associated Press All-Pro honors in 2004. That season, Williams led all NFL defensive tackles with 11.5 sacks and teamed with defensive end Lance Johnstone to give the Vikings the third-most prolific sack tandem in the league with 22.5.

From 1997-2000, Baker tutored the defensive line for Detroit. Under his direction those four years, the Lions defensive line tallied 120.5 sacks, and two defensive linemen were selected to the Pro Bowl: defensive end Robert Porcher in 1997 and 1999 and defensive tackle Luther Elliss in 1999 and 2000. Baker's 1998 and 1999 units finished fifth and sixth, respectively, in the league in sacks per pass play, and in 1999 Porcher recorded 15 sacks, the fourth-highest total in team history.

Baker made his NFL coaching debut as defensive line coach for the San Diego Chargers in 1996 after working on the college level for 12 years, beginning in 1984 as outside linebackers coach at his alma mater, Maryland. Next, he went to Army as fullbacks coach in 1986. Baker then moved to Georgia Tech, where he coached outside linebackers from 1987-95, adding defensive coordinator responsibilities in 1995. He contributed to the staff that helped the Yellow Jackets win the National Championship as the nation's only unbeaten team with an 11-0-1 record in 1990.

PLAYING AND PERSONAL: Baker played outside linebacker at Maryland from 1981-83 and helped the Terrapins win the Atlantic Coast Conference in 1983. He earned his degree in marketing from Maryland in 1985. A native of Baltimore, Baker and his wife, Nevada, have three daughters: Nicole, Jade and Jasmine.

HISTORY: Linebacker Maryland 1981-83. College coach: Maryland 1984-85, Army 1986, Georgia Tech 1987-95. Pro coach: San Diego Chargers 1996, Detroit Lions 1997-2000, Minnesota Vikings 2001-05, St. Louis Rams 2006-08, joined Panthers in 2009.

Geep CHRYST tight ends/offensive quality control

College:.....Princeton
Birthdate:.....6/25/62
NFL:.....18th Season
Panthers:.....5th Season

COACHING: Chryst, now in his fourth season as tight ends coach of the Panthers, oversaw a very quietly productive group last year as the Carolina tight ends combined for 63 catches and five touchdowns. It was the most productive pass receiving season for Panthers tight ends in 10 seasons while the unit also contributed to a running game that saw the Panthers become the fifth team in NFL history to have a pair of 1,100 yard backs.

Geep's debut as the Panthers tight end coach in 2007 resulted in the most productive season for a Carolina tight end since Wesley Walls as Jeff King caught 46 passes for 406 yards. As a group the team's tight ends combined for 57 catches and six touchdowns receptions while playing an integral blocking role in 1,824 rushing yards, second best in team history.

A 16-year veteran of the NFL, Chryst took over the tight ends during his second Panthers season and also serves as the team's quality control assistant for the offense. Coaching stops with the Chicago Bears, Arizona Cardinals (twice) and the San Diego Chargers left him more than prepared for the move.

Prior to coming to Carolina in 2006, his most recent experience was quarterbacks coach of the Cardinals from 2001-2003, where he was reunited with quarterback Jake Plummer. Under Chryst in 2001, Plummer threw 18 touchdown passes and just 14 interceptions after having 45 passes picked off the previous two seasons. Plummer had only two interceptions in his final 245 passing attempts and none in a span of 142 consecutive throws.

Under Chryst in 1998, Plummer ranked fourth in the NFL in passing, and the Cardinals won their first playoff game in 51 years. In Arizona he also played a role in the development of Josh McCown, who finished the 2003 season as the starter and led the Cardinals to a dramatic victory over the Vikings on the last play of the season.

Chryst spent five seasons (1991-1995) with the Chicago Bears as director of research/quality control, three seasons in Arizona working with tight ends (1996-97) and quarterbacks (1998) and two years as offensive coordinator/quarterbacks coach in San Diego before returning to Arizona in 2001.

While with the Chargers, he was instrumental in the implementation and development of San Diego's productive no huddle offense in 1999. During that season, the Chargers completed the most passes (332) in 13 seasons and quarterback Jim Harbaugh enjoyed the second-highest passing production of his 15-year NFL career and became the first quarterback in team history since Hall of Famer Dan Fouts to pass for 400 yards in a game.

Four times Chryst has been a part of an offense that has ranked in the NFL top ten in rushing and three more times he has been involved in an offense ranked in the NFL top 10 in passing.

PLAYING AND PERSONAL: Chryst was a three-year starter at linebacker and a two-year baseball player at Princeton, where he earned a bachelor's degree in history. He added a master's degree in educational administration from Wisconsin. His wife, Shelley, played volleyball at Wyoming and on the beach in the WPVA in 1994. She was also an assistant volleyball coach at Northwestern (1994) and Wisconsin-Milwaukee (1995). They are the parents of three children - sons, Keller and Jackson, and daughter, Gillian.

Sam GARNES special teams assistant

College:	Cincinnati
Birthdate:	7/12/74
NFL:	1st Season
Panthers:	1st Season

COACHING: Sam Garnes makes his NFL coaching debut in 2010 as the Panthers' special teams and strength and conditioning assistant, where he works closely with special teams coordinator Jeff Rodgers and strength and conditioning coach Jerry Simmons. He previously spent five seasons in a variety of coaching positions following a seven-year NFL playing career.

Garnes comes to Carolina after serving as a defensive assistant for the Las Vegas Locomotives of the UFL last year and helping them win the league's first championship. Prior to that, he twice participated in the NFL's Minority Internship Program - first with the Panthers during training camp in 2007 and then with the New Orleans Saints during training camp in 2008.

He made his foray into professional coaching in NFL Europe in 2006, overseeing the secondary for the Cologne Centurions - who led the league in pass defense and interceptions under his direction. In 2005, Garnes coached at Emerson (N.J.) High School.

PLAYING AND PERSONAL: Drafted in the fifth round by the New York Giants in 1997, Garnes played safety for five seasons for then-defensive coordinator and current Panthers head coach John Fox before spending two years with the New York Jets. He started 105-of-106 games and totaled 577 tackles, three sacks, 10 interceptions, 41 passes defended, five forced fumbles and two fumble recoveries.

A three-time first-team All-Conference USA and All-Liberty Bowl Alliance choice at Cincinnati, Garnes finished his career ranked among the Bearcats' all-time leaders in tackles and interceptions and graduated with a degree in criminal justice. He attended DeWitt Clinton HS in the Bronx, N.Y. and has a daughter, Alivia.

HISTORY: Safety Cincinnati 1992-96. Pro safety: New York Giants 1997-2001, New York Jets 2002-03. Pro coach: Cologne Centurions (NFL Europe) 2006, Las Vegas Locomotives (UFL) 2009, joined Panthers in 2010.

Mike GILLHAMER

secondary

College:..... Humboldt State
 Birthdate:..... 2/20/57
 NFL: 11th Season
 Panthers:..... 7th Season

COACHING: Change has been a constant at safety for Mike Gilhammer during his six seasons with the Panthers, but the play of his unit remains steady every season. After replacing one of his starting safeties for three straight seasons, Mike had two returners last year when Carolina finished fourth in pass defense and in percentage of passes intercepted.

Mike is again faced with the challenge of finding a new starter, but has proven very adept at adjusting on the go. In 2007 he had to find two new starters and one of those, Chris Harris, did not arrive until training camp, but under Gillhamer's tutelage, set a team record for forced fumbles while leading the team with three recoveries. The other, Deke Cooper, tied for the team lead in interceptions.

Turning subtraction into addition in the face of turnover is not new to Gillhamer. In his six years in Carolina, the Panthers have had eight different starters while continuing to rank among the League leaders in pass defense.

Assuming responsibilities of the Panthers safeties in 2005, Gillhamer's task quickly became more difficult with the loss of returning starter Colin Branch in the preseason. Undaunted, he replaced Branch with Marlon McCree, who played an integral role in the Panthers finishing 3rd in NFL defense.

Gillhamer faced a similar challenge again in 2006 with the departure of McCree in free agency, but Shawn Williams moved into the spot beside Mike Minter and the Panthers finished fourth in pass defense and seventh overall. With the retirement of Mike Minter and the departure of Williams in 2007, Gillhamer again performed addition by subtraction.

It is no wonder that since his return to the NFL in 2004, Gillhamer has become a valuable member of the coaching staff. In his first season, his tutelage played a role in a Panthers defense that led the NFL with a team-record 26 interceptions and ranked second in the League with 38 take-aways, a figure that tied the team mark. In addition to finishing third in total yardage in 2005, the Carolina passing defense was ninth in overall pass defense, fourth in yards per pass and fifth in percentage of passes intercepted while picking off 23 aerials en route to the playoffs.

Armed with five years of NFL coaching experience and 21 seasons on the college level, Gillhamer came to Carolina after spending 2003 as the defensive coordinator and safeties coach at Louisville. Prior to working at Louisville, Gillhamer served as the secondary coach for two years at Oregon from 2001-02. In 2001, Oregon finished second in the nation, and the Ducks were Fiesta Bowl Champions.

Gillhamer began his NFL coaching career as an offensive assistant with the New York Giants in 1997, contributing on the same staff as Carolina head coach John Fox. He assisted current Panthers running backs coach Jim Skipper with the Giants running backs during his first three seasons before taking over as the running backs coach in 2000.

He broke into coaching at the College of the Sequoias in Visalia, CA, from 1979-83, overseeing the defensive line for one season before coaching the defensive backs for the remainder of his tenure. He then was the defensive backs coach at Weber State in 1984, Utah from 1985-89 and San Jose State from 1990-93. Gillhamer moved to Nevada from 1994-95, where he handled the secondary his first season and served as the defensive coordinator for one campaign in 1995 and worked as the secondary coach at Rutgers in 1996.

PLAYING AND PERSONAL: Gillhamer played defensive back at Carroll College in 1972 and at Wenatchee Junior College in 1973. He was named the team's most valuable defensive back in 1975 at Humboldt State. He also played baseball and ran track for the Lumberjacks. After graduating with a degree in physical education from Humboldt State in 1976, he received his master's degree in special education from there in 1981. Gillhamer and his wife, Tammy, have two daughters, Meagen and Taylor.

HISTORY: Defensive back Humboldt State 1974-75. College coach: College of the Sequoias 1979-83, Weber State 1984, Utah 1985-89, San Jose State 1990-93, Nevada 1994-95, Rutgers 1996, Oregon 2001-02, Louisville 2003. Pro coach: New York Giants 1997-2000, joined Panthers in 2004.

Dave MAGAZU offensive line

College:.....Springfield (MA)
Birthdate:.....6/10/57
NFL:.....8th Season
Panthers:.....8th Season

COACHING: Under Dave Magazu the Panthers have fielded some of the best offensive lines in the NFL in recent years and have the numbers to prove it. However, Magazu may have been at his best last season when Carolina became the first team in League history to have two 1,100 yard backs despite playing the last four games of the year without their two starting tackles.

The 2,498 yards rushing by the Panthers last year marked the second straight season under Magazu that Carolina set a team rushing record. A year earlier Carolina rushed for 2,437 yards as DeAngelo Williams set an individual team mark with 1,515 yards and 18 touchdowns.

After four years working with the tight ends, Dave Magazu returned "home" in 2007 to coach the offensive line. Prior to coming to the NFL in 2003 as a tight ends coach, Dave had spent over 20 years coaching offensive lines on the collegiate level and the return was a success by every measure. The Panthers 1,824 yards rushing were second best in team history, the 4.0 yards per carry also tied for second, and despite playing four starting quarterbacks, they surrendered just 33 sacks.

His move to tight ends was seamless because of the overlap between the two positions. With an emphasis devoted to blocking at the position, six of Carolina's top seven rushing seasons have come since Magazu's arrival. In his first season, the tight ends played an integral role in setting a club record of 2,091 rushing yards to rank seventh in the League. The 2005 rushing total of 1,679 yards was fourth highest in team history, and despite losing the top three running backs to injury in 2004, the 1,582 yards on the ground was the fourth-highest total by the Panthers.

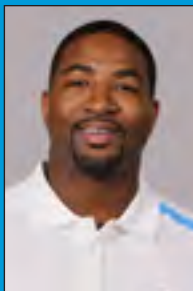

Before coming to the NFL, Magazu was regarded as one of the top offensive line coaches in college football. He spent 23 years as a college coach, the last four as Boston College's offensive line coach. At Boston College, he developed a number of pro prospects, including New England Patriots center Dan Koppen, and Chris Snee, the New York Giants second-round draft choice in 2004. During Magazu's tenure at Boston College from 1999-2002, the Eagles annually ranked among the most productive rushing teams in the nation.

His offensive lines were among the best pass blocking units in the country, allowing just six sacks in 2000 and 15 in 2001. Four of his linemen were named All-Big East in 2001 and three earned All-Conference honors in 2002. Tackle Darnell Alford was drafted by the Kansas City Chiefs in 2000, guard Paul Zukauskas was selected by the Cleveland Browns in 2001 and tackle Marc Colombo was a first-round choice by Chicago in 2002 in addition to Koppen's selection by New England in 2003.

Magazu arrived at Boston College after serving two years as co-offensive coordinator and offensive line coach at the University of Memphis from 1997-98. From 1995-96, he coached at Kentucky, where Moe Williams led the SEC in rushing in 1995. He started his coaching career at Ithaca College in 1980 and moved to Western Michigan in 1981, Eastern Michigan in 1982, Michigan in 1983, Northern Illinois in 1984 and Ball State in 1985. He then spent three years at Navy from 1987-89 before going to Indiana State from 1990-91 and Colorado State from 1992-94. While at Colorado State in 1994, the Rams won the Western Athletic Conference title for the first time in school history and ranked 16th in the nation.

PLAYING AND PERSONAL: Magazu is a 1980 graduate of Springfield (MA) College, where he was a four-year starter at defensive tackle. He worked toward a master's degree in physical education in 1981 from Ithaca College. Born June 10, 1957, in Taunton, MA, Magazu and his wife, Carrie, have five children: Anthony, who played college football at Kent, Dominick, a junior on the football team at Appalachian State, Damon, a freshman on the ECU football team, Roman and Olivia.

HISTORY: Defensive tackle Springfield (MA) College 1976-79. College coach: Ithaca College 1980, Western Michigan 1981, Eastern Michigan 1982, Michigan 1983, Northern Illinois 1984, Ball State 1985-86, Navy 1987-89, Indiana State 1990-91, Colorado State 1992-94, Kentucky 1995-96, Memphis 1997-98, Boston College 1999-2002. Pro coach: Joined Panthers in 2003.

Sam MILLS III defensive quality control

College:..... Montclair State
 Birthdate:..... 5/20/78
 NFL: 6th Season
 Panthers:..... 6th Season

COACHING: Working with defensive line coach Brian Baker last season, Sam Mills helped rejuvenate a Carolina defensive line that accounted for 25.5 of the teams 33 sacks. While the fans see the result of his efforts on Sundays, the day does not end for Mills when the game ends.

As defensive quality control coach, Mills immediately seizes a play-by-play and starts charting what happened in every situation for the Carolina defense. It is an assignment that requires great discipline after highs and lows of a Sunday afternoon, and is a reason Mills is making a name of his own as a hard working member of the Panthers coaching staff.

Beginning in a dual capacity as strength and conditioning and defensive assistant in 2005, Mills was promoted to defensive quality control coach in 2006. While Mills may be in the process of working his way up the Carolina coaching staff hierarchy, he is no stranger to the Panthers organization. His father is the only Panthers player to have his number retired and remains the only player inducted into the team's Hall of Honor.

Now in addition to many of the responsibilities of his original position of defensive assistant to Mike Gillhamer and defensive coordinator Ron Meeks, Mills works with defensive line coach Brian Baker.

As a defensive assistant, he oversees tape breakdown for statistical tendencies, assists in game plan preparation as well as the planning and production of the defensive play book. Mills is also responsible for all defensive meeting notes as well as getting the defensive cards ready for practice and coordinating the practice schedule with Trgovac and head coach John Fox. On game day Mills charts all plays for the defense in the coaching booth to help determine game tendencies. His duties also include implementing the game weekend itinerary in the players' game plan book.

Becoming a member of the coaching staff is a culmination of his path as a youth. When his father was playing for the Panthers, Mills worked as a ball boy at training camp and later worked with equipment manager Jackie Miles before joining the strength and conditioning program.

PLAYING AND PERSONAL: Mills followed his father's football footsteps when he played at Montclair State College in Montclair, NJ. The elder Mills had been a NCAA Division II All-America at the school as a linebacker. Mills started 20 games in two seasons at defensive back for the Red Hawks. He totaled 71 tackles, two interceptions, one fumble recovery, three forced fumbles and 14 passes defended. Mills' younger brother, Marcus, works in the football office at Temple. Mills is single and lives in Charlotte.

HISTORY: Defensive Back Montclair State 1997-1999. Pro coach: Joined Panthers in 2005.

Ron MILUS secondary

College:	Washington
Birthdate:	11/25/63
NFL:	11th Season
Panthers:	2nd Season

COACHING: The arrival of Ron Milus made an immediate impact on the Panthers secondary last season as Carolina finished fourth in pass defense and percentage of passes intercepted in his first season at Carolina. Those numbers contributed directly to a defense that ranked seventh in third down efficiency as well.

In addition, recorded 22 interceptions and limited opposing quarterbacks to a 71.7 rating, a drop of nearly ten points over the previous season.

The performance should not be surprising, for Milus brought nearly a decade of NFL coaching experience, developing his craft by tutoring the secondaries for St. Louis, the New York Giants, Arizona and Denver over nine seasons before coming to Carolina.

Milus spent the previous three years before the Panthers working with the secondary for St. Louis. He was promoted to secondary coach in 2008 from assistant secondary coach, a position he held from 2006-07. In 2007, the Rams defensive backs collected 16 interceptions, the most by the team's secondary in 10 years.

He came to St. Louis after two seasons as secondary coach for the New York Giants. The Giants' pass defense improved significantly in Milus' first year with the team in 2004, allowing 189.4 yards per game – the eighth best figure in the NFL.

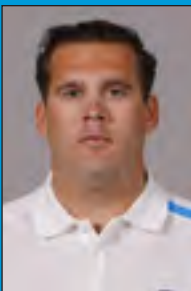

Milus served as the Arizona Cardinals defensive backs coach in 2003. Under his direction, safety Dexter Jackson tied for fourth in the NFC with six interceptions.

He began his NFL coaching career with Denver in 2000, working as the defensive backs coach for two seasons before coaching the nickel backs in 2002. In Milus' first year with the Broncos, the secondary accounted for 21 of the team's 27 interceptions, the club's highest total since 1987. In 2001, he helped cornerback Deltha O'Neal earn a Pro Bowl berth following a nine-interception season.

Prior to joining the Broncos, Milus spent nine seasons on the college level, including 1999 as the defensive backs coach at Texas A&M. That came after an eight-year stint from 1991-98 at Washington, the last seven as defensive backs coach. Milus' 1993 unit helped the Huskies lead the nation with 22 interceptions, while his 1995 group ranked first in the Pac-10 Conference with 16 picks.

PLAYING AND PERSONAL: Milus played cornerback and was a return specialist at the University of Washington from 1982-85 and ranks in the school's top 10 in punt return average. A native of Tacoma, WA, he and his wife, Sandra, have two sons, Ryan and Bobby. Last name is pronounced MY-luss.

HISTORY: Cornerback Washington 1982-85. College coach: Washington 1991-98, Texas A&M 1999. Pro coach: Denver Broncos 2000-02, Arizona Cardinals 2003, New York Giants 2004-05, St. Louis Rams 2006-08, joined Panthers in 2009.

Jeff RODGERS special teams

College:.....North Texas
 Birthdate:.....1/12/78
 NFL:7th Season
 Panthers:.....2nd Season

COACHING: After serving as special teams assistant for a season, Jeff Rodgers was named Carolina's special teams coach in January. He becomes the fourth coach to hold the position and will try to return the Panthers to elite in the League.

Rodgers brings six seasons of NFL apprenticeship to the position after working with the San Francisco 49ers special teams for five years and spending last season with the Panthers as assistant special teams coach and strength and conditioning assistant.

In between the 49ers and Panthers, Rodgers spent 2008 as the special teams coordinator at Kansas State. In his only season with Kansas State, Rodgers elevated the special teams units to among the nation's best. The Wildcats led the country in blocked kicks with a school-record nine, blocked punts with four and kickoff coverage with an opponents' average drive start of the 21.9-yard line. Kansas State also scored six special teams touchdowns, including five on punt returns. Additionally, Rodgers coached two players who earned All-Big 12 honorable mention: kick/punt returner Brandon Banks and kicker Brooks Rossman.

Rodgers previously gained NFL experience with San Francisco from 2003-2007, serving as the special teams quality control coach for two seasons before being promoted to assistant special teams coach in 2005. In 2007, he helped Pro Bowl punter Andy Lee finish first in the NFC and second in the NFL in net punting with an average of 41.0 yards and set a league record with 42 punts inside the 20. The 49ers also ranked first in the NFL in kickoff coverage with an opponents' average drive start of the 24.9-yard line.

During the 2005 season, kicker Joe Nedney established a team record with a 92.9 percent field-goal percentage, converting 26-of-28 field-goal attempts, while San Francisco's kickoff coverage unit stood third in the league. Long snapper Brian Jennings was named to the Pro Bowl in 2004, and in Rodgers' first year with the 49ers, they led the NFL with five special teams take-aways.

He broke into coaching at the University of Arizona as a graduate assistant on defense, assisting with the secondary in 2001 and flex linebackers in 2002.

PLAYING AND PERSONAL: Rodgers played linebacker at North Texas, where he earned his degree in business, specializing in entrepreneurship and strategic management. He attended Westlake HS in Austin, TX, but was born in St. Paul, MN.

HISTORY: Linebacker North Texas 1996-2000. College coach: Arizona 2001-02, Kansas State 2008. Pro coach: San Francisco 49ers 2003-07, joined Panthers in 2009.

Rip SCHERER quarterback/ passing game coordinator

College:.....	William & Mary
Birthdate:.....	8/3/52
NFL:.....	6th Season
Panthers:.....	2nd Season

COACHING: The Panthers have the youngest group of quarterbacks in the National Football League but the steady hand of veteran Rip Scherer gives the group an experienced guide as they navigate the League's defenses. Scherer is in his second season as the Panthers quarterbacks coach following four seasons with the Cleveland Browns and more than 30 years as a college coach.

In his first season at Carolina, Scherer played an integral role in the development of Matt Moore, who led the Panthers to a 4-1 record while starting the last five games.

Scherer spent the previous four seasons with Cleveland, serving as quarterbacks coach from 2005-2006 before adding assistant head coach to his responsibilities from 2007-2008. With the Browns, he directed the development of the young corps of signal callers that included Derek Anderson and Brady Quinn. In 2007, Scherer helped Anderson get selected to the Pro Bowl after throwing for 3,787 yards and 29 touchdowns and worked with an offense that ranked eighth in the NFL in scoring and yards per game.

He entered the NFL coaching ranks with more than 30 years of experience on the college level. Prior to joining Cleveland, Scherer spent two seasons from 2003-04 at Southern Mississippi as the offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach and the 2001 season at Kansas as co-offensive coordinator.

During Scherer's tenure as head coach at Memphis from 1995-2000, the Tigers registered their first and only victory over Tennessee in school history. He was the head coach at James Madison from 1991-94, and during that time the Dukes set or tied more than 140 school records.

Scherer was also the offensive coordinator at Arizona from 1989-90, Alabama in 1987 and Georgia Tech in 1986 after serving as the Yellow Jackets quarterbacks coach/passing game coordinator from 1980-81 and running backs coach/run game coordinator from 1982-84. Additionally, he worked as assistant athletic director at Georgia Tech in 1985 and director of football operations at Arizona in 1988.

He started his coaching career as a graduate assistant under legendary coach Joe Paterno at Penn State in 1974 and went on to coach quarterbacks at North Carolina State in 1976, running backs at Hawaii from 1977-78 and quarterbacks at Virginia in 1979.

PLAYING AND PERSONAL: Scherer was a three-year letterman at William & Mary from 1970-73, where he played quarterback. He and his wife, Michele, have three children: Scott, Melanie and Ryan.

HISTORY: Quarterback: William & Mary 1970-73. College coach: Penn State 1974-75, North Carolina State 1976, Hawaii 1977-78, Virginia 1979, Georgia Tech 1980-86, Alabama 1987, Arizona 1988-90, James Madison 1991-94 (head coach), Memphis 1995-2000 (head coach), Kansas 2001, Southern Mississippi 2003-04. Pro coach: Cleveland Browns 2005-2008, joined Panthers in 2009.

Jerry SIMMONS strength and conditioning

College:..... Fort Hays State
 Birthdate:..... 6/15/54
 NFL:..... 23rd Season
 Panthers:..... 12th Season

COACHING: When players think of tough love, strength and conditioning coach Jerry Simmons is at the forefront. His goal is to drive every player to be in the best physical shape possible and they know he will cut no corners. They also know he has their best interest at heart. Simmons has overseen the team's weight training since 1999 and the fact that the Panthers have annually done some of their best work late in the season is a tribute to him.

Simmons has long been regarded among the best in the NFL and was recognized as the NFL's Strength and Conditioning Coach of the Year in 2003. Simmons' selection came as no surprise to the players and coaches at Bank of America Stadium. His dedication and a strong work ethic, combined with his extensive knowledge of weight training, have made him a leader in his field. A recent example of his ability to improve performance is tight end Jeff King, whose bench press improved forty pounds and vertical leap increased two inches between his first and second seasons.

Maintaining in-season conditioning is as important as developing offseason strength in today's NFL, and Simmons has proven adept in both facets. He can be found in the weight room each day at 6:00 a.m. with the first arrivals or late in the day with the last to leave. He works to make the days interesting as well as thorough, incorporating yoga, martial arts and running into his programs. For Simmons, developing speed, flexibility and conditioning is as important as power. A stickler to the daily regimen, Simmons monitors the Panthers strength and conditioning program with fervor, and players know a missed workout will not go unnoticed.

Simmons is in his 11th season with the Panthers after eight years with Cleveland/Baltimore. His goal is to maximize players' strength while maintaining flexibility and limiting their exposure to injuries. To reach that end, Simmons develops specialized and highly individualized workout routines for each player on the roster. It was that commitment and expertise that head coach John Fox saw when he arrived at Carolina, leading him to keep Simmons as a mainstay of the Panthers coaching staff. Working closely with the training staff, Simmons not only tries to help prevent injuries with his conditioning program, he plays an integral role in getting players back on the field when injuries occur.

Starting with New England in 1988, Simmons has studied weight training trends in the NFL for 20 years. He spent three seasons with the Patriots before moving to Cleveland in 1991. Simmons began his coaching career at his alma mater, Fort Hays State, in 1978, doubling as a graduate assistant working with linebackers and the school's assistant strength coach before being elevated to head strength coach in 1979. Simmons became the graduate assistant strength coach at Clemson in 1980 and the strength and conditioning coach at Rice from 1980-82 before moving to the University of Southern California from 1983-87. In 1984, Simmons also worked as a strength training site director at the Summer Olympics in Los Angeles.

PLAYING AND PERSONAL: Simmons played linebacker at Fort Hays State (KS), where he earned a 1977 bachelor's degree in physical education and a 1978 master's degree in secondary school administration and physical education. He began his college playing career at Garden City (KS) Junior College. Born June 15, 1954, Simmons is a native of Elkhart, KS, and a graduate of Elkhart HS, earning All-State honors in football as a senior. Simmons and his wife, Becky, have three children: Joe, a personal chef to a number of players, Jordon, a graduate assistant strength and conditioning coach at the University of Oklahoma and Jennifer, who is serving in Bagdad as an Amp.

HISTORY: Linebacker Garden City J.C. 1972-74, Fort Hays State 1975-76. College coach: Fort Hays State 1978, Clemson 1979, Rice 1980-82, University of Southern California 1983-87. Pro coach: New England Patriots 1988-90, Cleveland Browns/Baltimore Ravens 1991-98. Joined Panthers in 1999.

Richard SMITH linebackers

College:.....Fresno State
Birthdate:.....10/17/55
NFL:.....23rd Season
Panthers:.....2nd Season

COACHING: Richard Smith spent most of his first season in Carolina coaching the Panthers linebackers without one of his best players, but the Panthers defense still finished eighth in yards allowed and ninth in points surrendered.

Under Smith's guidance, linebacker Jon Beason earned a Pro Bowl appearance and the Panthers could well have had two linebackers in the game had Thomas Davis not sustained a season ending knee injury after seven games. Another injury to Davis during the summer leaves Smith in a same situation in his second year, but he has proven up to virtually any challenge in his 23-year NFL career.

Richard Smith came to Carolina after serving as defensive coordinator for the Houston Texans for three seasons and Miami Dolphins for one year. Before that he had been a linebackers coach with the Detroit Lions, San Francisco 49ers, Denver Broncos and Houston Oilers.

While with the Texans from 2006-2008, Smith produced two Pro Bowl players in linebacker DeMeco Ryans in 2007 and defensive end Mario Williams in 2008. In 2008, Ryans led the Texans from his middle linebacker spot in tackles for the third consecutive time, and Williams paced the team in sacks for the second consecutive year. Both players earned Associated Press All-Pro second-team honors in 2007.

Prior to joining the Texans, Smith spent the 2005 season as defensive coordinator with Miami, where he oversaw a defense that finished with 49 sacks, the second-most in the NFL. He went to the Dolphins following two years as Detroit's assistant head coach/linebackers from 2003-04. With the Lions, Smith guided the development of Boss Bailey, who was named to ESPN.com's all-rookie team in 2003.

During his tenure with San Francisco from 1997-2002, Smith helped four of his linebackers reach the Pro Bowl: Ken Norton, Jr. and Lee Woodall in 1997, Winfred Tubbs in 1998 and Julian Peterson in 2002. In his last two seasons with the 49ers, he transformed a young and inexperienced linebacking corps into a highly productive unit. Despite only two of the six linebackers on the roster in 2001 having more than one year of NFL experience, the group helped the team rank ninth in the league in run defense and improved to seventh the next year.

Smith entered the NFL with the Oilers in 1988 and coached special teams in addition to assisting with the tight ends, linebackers and offensive line. His special teams played a key role in Houston making the playoffs in all five of his seasons with the Oilers. From 1993-96, Smith served as the special teams coach.

He broke into coaching at Rio Hondo (CA) Junior College from 1979-80, overseeing the offensive line. Smith then was the defensive line coach at Cal State-Fullerton from 1981-83. He moved to California from 1984-86, where he handled outside linebackers and special teams and served as the linebackers/special teams coach at Arizona in 1987.

PLAYING AND PERSONAL: Smith played offensive line at Rio Hondo (CA) Junior College from 1975-76 before transferring to Fresno State in 1977. He helped the Bulldogs win the Pacific Coast Athletic Association title in 1977 before graduating with a degree in physical education in 1979. Born in Los Angeles, Smith has four children, Morgan, Aimee, Whitney and Travis and is married to Renee.

HISTORY: Offensive lineman Rio Hondo (CA) Junior College 1975-76, Fresno State 1977-78. College coach: Rio Hondo (CA) Junior College 1979-80, Cal State-Fullerton 1981-83, California 1984-86, Arizona 1987. Pro coach: Houston Oilers 1988-92, Denver Broncos 1993-96, San Francisco 49ers 1997-2002, Detroit Lions 2003-04, Miami Dolphins 2005, Houston Texans 2006-08, joined Panthers in 2009.

Tyke TOLBERT wide receivers

College:.....	Louisiana State
Birthdate:.....	9/15/67
NFL:	8th Season
Panthers:.....	1st Season

COACHING: Tyke Tolbert takes over as Carolina's wide receivers coach in 2010 armed with a reputation as a tireless worker and an enthusiastic instructor. He replaces Richard Williamson, who coached wide receivers for all but one of the Panthers' first 15 seasons before retiring after the 2009 season.

Tolbert comes to Carolina following six years with the Buffalo Bills in the same capacity. With the Bills, he developed young wide receivers Lee Evans, Roscoe Parrish and Josh Reed and worked with veterans Eric Moulds and Terrell Owens.

Upon Tolbert's arrival in Buffalo in 2004, the Bills selected Evans in the first round of the NFL Draft and chose Parrish in the second round in 2005 to go along with Reed, a second-round pick in 2002. Tolbert helped Evans become one of the most productive receivers in team history. Evans led all NFL rookies in 2004 with nine touchdown receptions and a 17.6-yard average per catch. After finishing second in the NFL with seven receptions for 40-plus yards in 2005, Evans continued to improve under Tolbert in 2006 - amassing a team-record 265 yards receiving in Week 11.

While teaching younger players, Tolbert has challenged older ones. In Moulds' final two seasons with the Bills, Tolbert directed him to 88 catches - which ranked fourth in the AFC - in 2004 and 81 receptions in 2005. During the 2009 season, Owens produced the longest play from scrimmage in the NFL with a career-long 98-yard touchdown reception in Week 11.

Tolbert got his first full-time job in the NFL as wide receivers coach with the Arizona Cardinals in 2003. Under his tutelage, Anquan Boldin earned Offensive Rookie of the Year honors and was the only rookie to make the Pro Bowl that season. Tolbert guided Boldin to an NFL-rookie record 101 catches and 1,377 yards - the second most by a rookie in league history.

He gained his first professional coaching experience by participating in the NFL's Minority Internship Program with the Detroit Lions during training camp in 1997 and again with the Cardinals during training camp in 2001.

Prior to joining the Cardinals, Tolbert spent eight seasons on the college level. He worked as a graduate assistant at Louisiana State in the spring of 1994 and Northeast Louisiana in the fall of 1994 and tutored wide receivers at Ohio in the spring of 1995 before returning to Northeast Louisiana in the fall of 1995 for a three-year stint as tight ends coach. After holding the same position at Auburn in 1998, Tolbert went to Louisiana-Lafayette as wide receivers coach/recruiting coordinator from 1999-2001 and then served as tight ends coach/recruiting coordinator at Florida in 2002.

PLAYING AND PERSONAL: A native of Conroe, Texas, Tolbert graduated with bachelor and master degrees from Louisiana State, where he was a three-year letterman and played wide receiver. He and his wife, Linda, have two daughters: Morgan and Madison.

HISTORY: Wide receiver: Louisiana State 1988-90. College coach: Louisiana State 1994 (spring), Northeast Louisiana 1994 (fall), Ohio 1995 (spring), Northeast Louisiana 1995-97, Auburn 1998, Louisiana-Lafayette 1999-2001, Florida 2002. Pro coach: Arizona Cardinals 2003, Buffalo Bills 2004-09, joined Panthers in 2010.

Marty HURNEY general manager

College:.....Catholic
Birthdate:.....12/20/55
NFL:.....23rd Season
Panthers:.....11th Season

The Carolina Panthers have been one of the NFL's most consistent franchise under the steady hand of Marty Hurney as general manager. Since he assumed responsibilities in 2002, the Panthers 76 victories are seventh most in the National Football League and the Panthers are one of only four teams not to have a double digit losing season in that time. There have been three playoff appearances, an NFC championship, two NFC South titles and two NFC championship games and a Super Bowl during that time.

It is quite a difference from the 1-15 team with 15 consecutive losses that Hurney inherited after the 2001 season. With that resume it is no surprise that Forbes.com recognized Hurney among the top ten executives in professional sports in 2007. A year earlier FoxSports.com had given him the same honor. Most recently, a The Sporting News poll ranked Hurney third among the League's general managers for first round value in the draft, ranking only behind Baltimore's Ozzie Newsome and the Colts' Bill Polian.

"Hurney is a facilitator, a consensus builder, an administrator, who can pull together all manners of resources, start a very democratic process that works well, then sit with the coach and owner and come to sharp, well-reasoned decisions," writes Michael Wilbon of The Washington Post.

That ability is reflected in a multitude of ways. Hurney was instrumental in the selection of John Fox as Carolina's head coach. He has overseen the college and pro scouting departments that have produced four Pro Bowl players in defensive end Julius Peppers, tackle Jordan Gross, linebacker Jon Beason, and center Ryan Kalil. At least one player from the draft became a starter every year for seven straight seasons between 2002 and 2008.

The ability to find value has not been limited to the draft under Hurney. Veteran free agent signings have included quarterback Jake Delhomme, running back Stephen Davis, wide receiver Ricky Proehl, linebacker Mark Fields and most recently, Tyler Brayton.

The Panthers have compiled a 76-60 overall record since his appointment in 2002 after going 20-44 the previous four years, and Hurney finished second in the voting for NFL Executive of the Year in 2003.

The respect he has earned in the League was reflected in his appointment to the NFL General Managers Advisory Committee, which provides feedback to the Football Operations department headed by Ray Anderson. Areas of focus for the committee include protecting and supporting the integrity of the game, the expanded use of technology and player development and scouting opportunities.

Despite his success, Hurney is still more comfortable behind the scenes. Understated best describes his style, but the effectiveness is evident in the draft and in the record since he was named general manager.

It was that management style owner Jerry Richardson saw in Hurney when he promoted him to general manager. The promotion was the culmination of a 15-year NFL apprenticeship under some of the game's most astute coaches and executives, and Hurney has demonstrated that the lessons were well-learned. In addition to the on-the-field improvement, he has overseen salary cap adjustments that have left Carolina in a more positive position for the future.

Hurney joined the Panthers in 1998 from the San Diego Chargers and managed the salary cap under head coaches Dom Capers and George Seifert. As general manager, Hurney oversees the salary cap while coordinating the different areas of football operations with Fox and the team's college and pro scouting departments.

"The way we do things, everybody has a voice, and there is great communication," said Hurney. "You can find 15 people who have had a voice in a decision. That's the important thing to me."

Hurney first caught the eye of former Washington Redskins owner Jack Kent Cooke as a reporter covering the team's championship runs in the 1980s. Developing an association with Cooke, head coach Joe Gibbs and general manager Bobby Beathard, Hurney joined the Redskins public relations department in 1988. In 1990, Hurney moved with Beathard to San Diego, serving as the general manager's assistant with responsibilities that included organizing the scouting department and player contracts and overseeing the day-to-day football administration.

With the advent of the salary cap in 1993, Hurney emerged as the club's specialist in compliance management to the agreement, while earning distinction as both an administrator and negotiator, and played an integral role in San Diego's AFC Championship in 1994. Applying the lessons he has learned over the years under some of the game's most successful leaders, Hurney has become a proven leader himself.

"My role is to make sure everyone is coordinated and on the same page," Hurney said. "It's a group effort. It's communication, having a plan and doing what it takes to make sure you make all decisions with the plan in mind. If the plan and decision making are sound every step along the way, mistakes are minimized, and there is a move in the right direction."

A native of Wheaton, MD, Hurney graduated from Catholic University in Washington, D.C. and began his career as a journalist with the Montgomery Journal in Silver Spring, MD. In 1978, he moved to the Washington Star and worked on that paper for three years before going to the Washington Times, where he spent five years as a beat writer covering the Redskins. Born December 20, 1955, Marty and his wife, Jeannie, have two sons, Joe and James, and live in Charlotte.

NFL:.....14th Season
Panthers:.....4th Season

Don Gregory was named Director of College Scouting for the Panthers during the summer of 2006 and his impact is visible throughout the Carolina lineup. Two players from Gregory's first draft, linebacker Jon Beason and center Ryan Kalil, have played in Pro Bowls. Beason has twice set a team record for tackles in a season and played in two Pro Bowls. Jonathan Stewart, one of two number one selections from his second draft, broke every team rookie rushing record while the other, tackle Jeff Otah, has paved the way in Carolina's record setting ground game.

Gregory is so diligent in his quest to uncover the best talent that he chooses to live in Dallas, where accessibility to the country's colleges is seldom more than a two-hour flight away.

Each fall and spring he sees approximately 300 players, stretching from coast-to-coast in a routine reminiscent of Groundhog Day. It's a schedule that has taken him to Las Vegas, Oregon, Washington, Auburn, Clemson, Louisiana, Florida, Texas and California in a ten-day period.

However, searching the country for talent is not something that is new to Gregory, who chose scouting over coaching following a successful college playing career.

"I made that choice largely because of a scout named Gene Bates, who had scouted me when I was in college and became my mentor," says Gregory. "I went into high school coaching for eight years after playing, and Gene was instrumental in my transition into scouting as well as my development there."

Starting with a personnel position with the Edmonton Eskimos of the Canadian Football League, Gregory began his climb up the pro ladder. He worked with the Eskimos from 1986-1990 before going to the World League of American Football to scout the northwest for the San Antonio Riders in 1990 and 1991. Gregory returned to Edmonton in 1992 and remained there until moving to the Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the CFL for two years.

Gregory moved to the National Football League in 1995 as a scout with the San Diego Chargers and remained with the team until 1999. While at San Diego, he worked with Panthers general manager Marty Hurney, who was managing the salary cap.

In 2001 a move to the Las Vegas Outlaws of the XFL as Director of Player Personnel took Gregory out of the NFL, but he soon returned as a member of the Kansas City Chiefs scouting department. With the Chiefs, he served as a national scout in the south and southeast for five years.

Familiar with his work ethic and dedication to his profession, Hurney tabbed Gregory four years ago to become the Panthers director of college scouting. However, Gregory chose to keep his home in Dallas rather than move to Charlotte.

"I guess I've made my name in this business by being a grinder and that involves a lot of travel," explains Gregory. "I try to set an example by being on the road myself, and it helps you understand the issues scouts experience. Dallas is pretty centrally located in the middle of the country, so I can go east or west and be pretty much anywhere within a few hours."

A native of Pearl City, Hawaii, Don moved to Great Falls, Montana in the sixth grade and played college football at Wenatchee Valley College in 1974 and 1975 before transferring in 1976 to Portland State, where he played in the "run and shoot" offense of coach Mouse Davis and quarterback June Jones. Gregory finished his college career at Whitworth College, where he received a bachelor's of science degree in 1979. He then coached high school football in Washington before joining the Eskimos.

Mark KONCZ director of pro scouting

College:.....	Kansas
Birthdate:.....	12/14/66
NFL:.....	16th Season
Panthers:.....	16th Season

Mark Koncz is an integral part of the Panthers success as Director of Pro Scouting, annually providing a steady stream of veteran talent to the team's roster. The ability of Koncz to discover available talent has paid dividends year after year, whether as an offseason acquisition or an in-season waiver wire pickup. Last season was no exception with the in-season addition of Louis Leonard, Tank Tyler, and Hollis Thomas to plug the hole left at defensive tackle with the injury to Maake Kemoeatu at the start of training camp.

And there are many others. Punter Jason Baker has been a mainstay since coming in a trade along with free agent signing Tyler Brayton along the defensive line. They join a long list that includes Stephen Davis, Ricky Proehl, Mark Fields, Brandon Short, Rodney Peete, Brentson Buckner, Terry Cousin, Marlon McCree, Al Wallace, Mike Wahle and Chris Harris. Free agent signing Jake Delhomme became the winningest quarterback in team history.

The ability of Koncz and his staff was put to the ultimate test in the Panthers injury-plagued season of 2004. Carolina reached midseason with 14 players on injured reserve, leaving the pro personnel department with the challenge of finding replacements. Several of those late arrivals played instrumental roles in the team's second-half rally and reinforced Koncz's reputation for finding talent in a variety of ways.

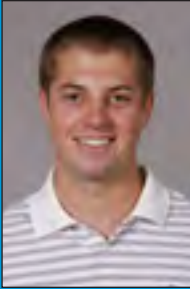

Year after year, his recommendations that have turned out to be blue chips. In 2003 it was a trio of veteran free agent finds -- Davis, who set a club rushing record with 1,444 yards, Delhomme and Proehl, the big play wide receiver -- who helped propel the Panthers to the NFC Championship and Super Bowl.

Sorting through the free agent pool to find the right fit for the Panthers is nothing new for Koncz. In 2002, five free agent finds proved vital in Carolina's rebound during head coach John Fox's first season. Peete started at quarterback for all seven victories, Lamar Smith was the team's leading rusher, Fields led the team in tackles, Cousin was a starting cornerback and Wallace provided invaluable depth at defensive end.

The work of Koncz and his staff also resulted in the signing of guard Kevin Donnalley and Buckner at defensive tackle, both starters on the 2003 Super Bowl team. The pro personnel department is constantly evaluating NFL rosters in preparation for a need, and their time has been well spent. Whether waiver acquisitions such as Rod Smart or former starter Reggie Howard, high profile free agents such as Davis or unknown talents such as Delhomme, it is Koncz's job to be ready to fill a need. When an injury creates that need at a moment's notice, the pro personnel department must be ready to respond with recommendations.

Koncz has been scouring for hidden gems since 1998 when he joined the scouting department. He was named the Panthers director of pro scouting after working as the Panthers manager of football operations. In addition to his work of player evaluations throughout the NFL, he coordinates the advance scouting of opponents.

Koncz is a 1990 graduate of the University of Kansas, where he was a three-year letterman and three-year starter for the Jayhawks, serving as team captain his senior season. He earned a master's degree in sports administration from Ohio University in 1993 and joined the Panthers in July 1994, starting in the ticket department. A native of Chicago, IL, Koncz is a graduate of Barrington HS. He and his wife, Yvette, live in Charlotte, NC and have a daughter, Milena, and a son, Nolan.

Jeff joined the Panthers in 2008 as an area scout. Prior to joining the Panthers, Jeff was the Director of Player Personnel and running backs coach in 1991 for the Orlando Thunder of the World League of American Football, which was later known as NFL Europe. In 1992 he became the Director of Player Personnel and tight ends coach for the San Antonio Riders of the WLAF. Jeff began his NFL scouting career with the Los Angeles Rams in May of 1992 through 1994. He moved to the San Diego Chargers scouting department from 1994-2002 and scouted for the Hamilton Tigercats from 2003-2005.

Jeff attended Towson State University from 1983-1985, starting at running back as a sophomore and junior before transferring to Southern Oregon State College as a senior.

Jeff was the 333rd overall and final pick by the Los Angeles Rams in the 1988 draft, becoming "Mr. Irrelevant," in a year when the selection process lasted 12 rounds. He spent a season with the CFL's Winnipeg Blue Bombers before beginning his career in football administration.

Jeff graduated from Oakton (Vienna, VA) HS, where he played football, baseball and ran track. He was All-District, Region and All-State in football and played in the Virginia all-star game as a senior. Born June 9, 1964, Jeff has three children, Kylee, Jeffrey, Jr. and Jake, and lives in Catlett, Virginia.

PRO CAREER:

- AMONG PANTHERS ALL-TIME LEADERS: 24 career interceptions are second to Eric Davis in team history...283 career interception return yards rank second in team history behind Mike Minter....93 career regular season starts ranks first in team history at cornerback position.
- PANTHERS TEAM RECORDS: 157 interception return yards in 2005 set team single-season record, surpassing the previous mark of 143 by Julius Peppers in 2004. Seven interceptions (2005) rank as the second-highest single-season total in team history behind the eight recorded by Doug Evans in 2001.
- Tied Richard Marshall for team lead in 2009 with four interceptions...Has tied or led for the team lead in interceptions in five of six seasons with the Panthers.
- With interceptions in three consecutive games at New York Jets (11/29/09), versus Tampa Bay (12/6/09) and at New England (12/13/09), Gamble tied the team record for the second-most consecutive games with an interception...The team record is six by Doug Evans in 2001.
- Recorded his 10th career interception in his 24th regular-season game, versus the New York Jets (11/13/05), the fastest a player has reached that mark since cornerback Anthony Henry notched his 10th career interception in his 16th career game while with Cleveland in 2001.
- Team leader in interceptions in 2004 and 2005, becoming second player in team history to be sole interceptions leader in consecutive seasons, joining Eric Davis who accomplished feat from 1997-2000.
- Produced his first career interception return for a touchdown with 61-yard return at Tampa Bay (11/6/05) off quarterback Chris Simms and equaled his personal best with two interceptions , previously accomplished at Atlanta (12/18/04).

- Interception against New Orleans (12/18/05) made him the first player in team history to record at least six interceptions per season more than once after he notched six as a rookie in 2004.
- 2004 performance made him first rookie defensive player in team history to start all 16 games.
- Tied teammate Ken Lucas for the NFC lead with six interceptions in 2004.
- Pro Football Weekly All-Rookie choice in 2004 after he established a team rookie record with six interceptions.
- First rookie in team history to be Carolina's sole interception leader. Ricky Manning, Jr. tied for the team lead as a rookie in 2003.
- Started every game on 2004 Panthers defense that led the NFL with a team-record 26 interceptions and ranked second in the League with 38 take-aways, a total that tied the team mark.

- * Only player remaining from the Panthers inaugural 1995 team and the only player to appear in all 10 of the franchise's postseason games.
- NFL RECORDS: Became the first kicker in League history to convert four field goals of 46 yards or longer in one game at Tampa Bay (9/24/06).
- 1,000 Point Club: Became the 25th player in NFL history to score 1,000 points with the same team in 2006.
- Equaled personal best with four field goals of 50 yards or longer in 2006, previously accomplished in 1998 when he kicked a career long 56-yarder versus Green Bay (9/27/06).
- Responsible for 12 game-winning field goals during his career, including 10 with the Panthers.
- Since joining the Panthers in 1995, is one of two NFL kickers who still remains with the same team, along with Jason Hanson of Detroit.
- Panthers leading scorer in every season in team history except for 2000, 2002 and 2004. He spent the majority of the 2000 and 2002 campaigns on injured reserve.
- Field goals of 51 and 52 yards versus New England (9/18/05) and 52 yards at Miami (9/25/05) made him the second kicker since 1995 to attempt three consecutive field goals from 50 yards or longer and convert all of them. Neil Rackers accomplished the feat for Arizona versus Seattle (10/24/04).
- Established career high and team record with six field goals and 20 points at New Orleans (12/5/04).
- Tied an NFL postseason record versus Dallas (1/4/03) in the NFC Wild Card game when he became the fifth player in League history to convert five field goals in a playoff game.
- Successful on 304-of-368 field goals for an 82.6 percent accuracy rate since signing with the Panthers as an unrestricted free agent in 1995.
- Excluding 2000 season that he missed with injury and an abbreviated 2002 season when he was two-of-five on field goals before going on injured reserve with a sports hernia, has converted 198 of his last 233 field goal attempts since 1999, an 84.9 percent conversion rate.
- Panthers are 11-1 in games in which he has kicked four or more field goals.
- 37 field goals in 1996 set an NFL single-season record (since broken) that still ranks fourth in League history.
- 145 points in 1996 led the NFL and are the third-most points in a season by a kicker in League history.
- Selected to Pro Bowl in 1996 and earned first-team All-Pro honors from UPI, second team All-Pro honors from The Associated Press and Football Digest and All-NFC honors from Football News.
- With five-for-five field goal games versus Atlanta (9/1/96) and at New Orleans (9/8/96), became the second kicker in NFL history to go 10-for-10 for two games (Carney, SD, 1994).

- PANTHERS SINGLE-SEASON AND GAME RECORDS: 18.2 yards per catch average in 2008 set franchise record...Established single-season records with 103 receptions, 1,563 receiving yards and nine 100-yard receiving games in 2005...Set single-game records with 14 receptions at Chicago (11/20/05) and 201 receiving yards versus Minnesota (10/30/05)...Three receiving scores at Miami (9/25/05) and versus Houston (9/16/07) tied single-game mark for touchdown receptions...12 touchdown receptions in 2005 matched the second-highest single-season total behind the 16 recorded by Muhsin Muhammad in 2004...13 total touchdowns in 2005 rank third behind DeAngelo Williams' 20 in 2008 and Muhammad's 16 in 2004...Four consecutive 100-yard receiving games in 2005 stand second behind Patrick Jeffers' record of five in 1999...80-yard reception at Detroit (10/16/05) ranks as the third-longest in team history behind Willie Green's 89-yard reception versus Atlanta (12/17/95) and Jeffers' 88-yard catch at Pittsburgh (12/26/90).

- AMONG PANTHERS ALL-TIME RETURN LEADERS: Ranks first with six combined kick returns for a touchdown and four punt returns for a touchdown.
- PANTHERS RETURN RECORDS: Established single-season records as a rookie in 2001 with three combined kick returns for a touchdown and 1,795 combined kick return yards... Set single-game records with 252 kickoff return yards at St. Louis (11/11/01), including a 99-yarder for a touchdown that matched the second-longest kickoff return in team history, and 267 combined kick return yards...206 combined kick return yards versus New Orleans (10/14/01) rank as second-highest total in team history and 70-yard punt return for a touchdown against Saints stands as the third-longest in team history...Set team record in first NFL contest with a 44.67 kickoff return average on three returns for 134 yards at Minnesota (9/9/01)...42.75 yard kickoff return average at New Orleans (12/2/01) is the second-highest in team annals.
- PANTHERS COMBINED NET YARDS RECORDS: Franchise leader with 12,602 combined net yards...Owner of the four highest single-season combined net yards totals in team history, generating 1,994 yards as a rookie in 2001, 1,940 yards in 2005, 1,909 yards in 2002 and 1,900 yards in 2003...Responsible for the five highest single-game totals for combined net yards in team history with 313 yards versus Cincinnati (12/8/02), 269 yards at St. Louis (11/11/01), 232 yards versus Tennessee (10/19/03), 221 yards versus Minnesota (10/30/05) and 217 yards versus New Orleans (10/14/01).
- AMONG NFL LEADERS FOR COMBINED NET YARDS: Since the NFL adopted a 16-game schedule in 1978, only player to amass 1,900 combined net yards in each of his first three seasons after compiling a team-record 1,994 yards in 2001, 1,909 yards in 2002 and 1,900 yards in 2003...Joined Kansas City's Priest Holmes as the only two players in the NFL with 1,900 or more combined net yards in each season from 2001-03...5,803 combined net yards led all non-running backs in the NFL from 2001-03...Running backs he trailed were Holmes, who had 6,556 yards, San Diego's LaDarian Tomlinson, who had 6,145 yards, and Green Bay's Ahman Green, who had 5,864 yards...Ranked second in the NFL among non-running backs in 2003 with 1,900 combined net yards, trailing Dante Hall, who totaled 2,446 yards...Led all rookies and ranked fourth in NFL for combined net yards in 2001.
- SMITH IN THE POSTSEASON: In eight postseason games, Smith has totaled 47 receptions for 782 yards and seven touchdowns, five rushing attempts for 45 yards and one touchdown, seven punt returns for 73 yards and one touchdown and two kickoff returns for 41 yards...Postseason totals for receptions and receiving yards are the most in NFL history by a player after his first eight postseason games...With punt return for a touchdown in NFC Championship at Seattle (1/22/06), became first player in NFL history to score a touchdown on a pass reception, rush and punt return in the same postseason...27 receptions in 2005 postseason set NFL record, bettering mark of 23 by Anthony Carter in 1987...With 10 catches in the NFC Wild Card (1/8/06) and 12 receptions at Chicago (1/15/06) in the NFC Divisional Playoffs, became third player in NFL history to post 10 or more receptions in consecutive postseason contests, joining Tony Nathan (1984-85) and Jerry Rice (1994-95)...404 receiving yards during the 2003 postseason led NFL and were the most by a player during the postseason since Rice totalled 409 yards in 1988.
- With rushing touchdown at New Orleans (12/18/05), joined Tim Dwight as the only active NFL players to score a touchdown rushing, receiving, via kick return and via punt return.
- One of two players, along with Muhammad, to produce multiple 1,000-yard receiving campaigns after eclipsing the plateau in 2003, 2005, 2006, 2007 and 2008.
- Second player in franchise history to accumulate more than 5,000 career receiving yards, joining Muhammad (8,729).
- Second player in club history to record 500 career receptions, joining Muhammad (648).

- Four-time Pro Bowl selection, earning honors in 2001, 2005, 2006 and 2008.
- 2005 "TRIPLE CROWN" WINNER: Led NFL with 1,563 receiving yards and tied for first in the League with 103 receptions and 12 touchdown catches...Third player since the NFL merger in 1970 to lead or tie for the NFL lead in those three categories, matching the accomplishments of Jerry Rice with San Francisco in 1990 and Sterling Sharpe with Green Bay in 1992.
- In 2005, became first receiver in NFL history to produce three games in one season with 11 or more catches and 169 or more receiving yards.
- Responsible for eight games with 10 or more receptions, including the playoffs.
- Game-winning 69-yard touchdown in second overtime at St. Louis (1/10/04) during the NFC Divisional Playoffs stands as the longest play to end a playoff game in League history and concluded a contest that ranked as the fifth-longest in NFL history.
- Earned first career NFC Special Teams Player of the Week award versus Cincinnati (12/6/02) after setting Panthers marks with 153 punt return yards and two punt returns for touchdowns, including an 87-yarder that stands as the longest in team history.
- Became second player in NFL history to return two punts for touchdowns and catch a touchdown pass in the same game versus Cincinnati (12/6/02), amassing a team-record 313 combined net yards, a single-game total that ranked second in the NFL in 2002.
- Only rookie named All-Pro by The Associated Press, Sports Illustrated, Pro Football Weekly, Football Digest and The Sporting News in 2001.
- Only rookie elected to the 2001 Pro Bowl and first rookie named to the Pro Bowl as a kick returner or special teams player of any kind since returner Tyrone Hughes of the New Orleans Saints was chosen as the return man in 1993.
- Led NFC and ranked second in NFL with 25.6 kickoff return average in 2001.
- Only NFL player to return both a punt and kickoff for touchdown during the 2001 season, marking a first in team history.
- Only player in the League to produce three combined kick returns for a touchdown in 2001, a total that tied for the second highest in NFL history.
- Returned first NFL kickoff 93 yards for a touchdown at Minnesota (9/9/01), a score that was the first in the NFL for the 2001 season, making him the first player to return a season-opening kickoff for a touchdown since 1980.

PRO CAREER:

- Made transition from left guard back to left tackle in 2009 after injury to Jordan Gross and helped the Panthers average 156.1 rushing yards per game and setting team records with 2,498 rushing yards, 525 rushing attempts and 123 first downs in 2009.
- Opened running lanes for Jonathan Stewart and DeAngelo Williams to become the first set of teammates in NFL history to each rush for more than 1,100 yards in the same year in 2009.
- One of three offensive lineman to start every contest in 2009 joining Ryan Kalil and Keydrick Vincent.
- Made a smooth transition from left tackle back to left guard in 2008 helping the Panthers set franchise marks for rushing yards (2,437) and fewest sacks allowed (20) in a single season.
- Helped running backs Jonathan Stewart and DeAngelo Williams rush for a combined eight 100-yard games in the second half of the season in 2008.
- Helped anchor Panthers rushing attack that ranked third in the NFL in rushing in 2008 with an average of 152.3 yards a game, the highest finish ever in that category.
- Aided Panthers in recording a team-record 299 yards rushing versus Tampa Bay (12/8/08), an average of 8.1 yards per carry.
- Started all 16 games at left tackle in 2007 after suffering a torn ACL and MCL in his left knee in the 2006 season opener versus Atlanta (9/10/07)...Contributed to an offensive unit that generated 1,824 rushing yards, the second-highest single-season total in club history behind 2,091 in 2003.
- Has started all 74 games in which he has played, including 40 at left tackle and 34 at left guard.
- Returned to his college position of left tackle in 2005 after spending his rookie season at left guard in 2004.
- Member of offensive line that allowed only 28 sacks in 2005, the second lowest total in team history.
- Key contributor to rushing attack that generated a team-record 229 yards rushing at Atlanta (1/1/05) in the regular season finale and 223 yards rushing at the New York Giants (1/8/05) in the NFC Wild Card game. Efforts marked the first time in team history that Carolina rushed for more than 200 yards in consecutive games and enabled the Panthers to join Atlanta as the only teams to generate consecutive games with 200 or more yards rushing during the 2005 season.
- Started final 11 games at left guard in 2004 after being inactive for the first five contests. Entered the lineup after starting guard Tutan Reyes suffered an injured left ankle at Philadelphia (10/17/04).

- Lone rookie starter on offensive line that yielded only 33 sacks in 2004, the fourth lowest total in team history.
- Opened running lanes for Nick Goings to rush for five 100-yard games in eight starts, tying Anthony Johnson with five in 1996 and behind Stephen Davis who totaled seven in 2003.
- One of four rookie draft choices to start a game in 2004 (Chris Gamble, Keary Colbert, Michael Gaines).

TRANSACTIONS: Signed to a contract extension by Carolina (2/14/08)... Selected by Carolina in the third round (94th overall) in the 2004 NFL draft (4/24/04).

GP/GS: Career (74/74) [4/4]; 2009 (16/16); 2008 (14/14) [1/1]; 2007 (16/16); 2006 (1/1); 2005 (16/16) [3/3]; 2004 (11/11).

2009: Started all 16 games one of three Carolina offensive lineman to start every contest joining Ryan Kalil and Keydrick Vincent...Started the first nine games at left guard and the final seven games at left tackle after Jordan Gross was lost for the season...Has started all 74 games in which he has played, including 40 at left tackle and 34 at left guard...Played a key role in Carolina averaging 156.1 rushing yards per game and setting team records with 2,498 rushing yards, 525 rushing attempts and 123 first downs in 2009...The offense eclipsed the previous marks of 2,437 rushing yards set in 2008, 522 rushing attempts set in 2003 and 118 rushing first downs set in 2008...Contributed to a rushing offense that averaged 4.76 yards per attempt and 18 touchdowns which stand as the second-most in franchise history behind the team records of 4.84 yards per attempt and 30 rushing touchdowns set in 2008...Vs. Atlanta (11/15): Started at left guard and moved to left tackle after Jordan Gross suffered a leg injury.

COLLEGE: Started all 12 games at left tackle as a senior and earned second-team All-SEC recognition at South Carolina...Team captain...Lone returning starter on offensive line that allowed only 10 sacks the entire season...Contributed to offensive effort versus Tennessee that generated 217 yards rushing and 371 total net yards.

The Panthers marched downfield to a game-opening touchdown, but that early 7-0 edge was washed away in a flood of turnovers that put them in to a spiral from which they couldn't recover. All three of the Panthers quarterbacks who dressed played. Starter Jake Delhomme, under duress from the Eagles' pass rush for much of the day, threw four interceptions and fumbled once, which Victor Abiamiri recovered for the touchdown that put the Eagles in front to stay 10-7. After his final interception, Delhomme was pulled for Josh McCown, who encountered the same fierce pass rush and ultimately succumbed to it, suffering a sprained left knee and foot after being sacked by Darren Howard. Matt Moore, the emergency No. 3 quarterback, subsequently entered; he threw an interception one series later. A Mike Goodson fumble with 6:57 remaining gave the Panthers seven giveaways for the game -- the most for the club since their first home regular-season game, against St. Louis at Clemson's Memorial Stadium on Sept. 17, 1995. Carolina's next -- and final -- possession didn't see a turnover but did end when Williams was buried under a pair of Philadelphia defenders for a one-yard loss on fourth-and-goal from the two-yard-line.

The Panthers rallied late from a 15-point deficit, but the surge fell short in the game's final moments, as a Chris Houston interception with 2:37 left and a failed Hail Mary pass as time expired consigned Carolina to a 28-20 loss at the Georgia Dome. Third- down conversions were the key to the game as Atlanta converted six third downs in succession in the second and third quarters; after that streak ended, the Falcons promptly converted the ensuing fourth-and-ones. None was more damaging than the one that came midway through the second quarter: a 15-yard, third-and-11 conversion to Marty Booker. The connection that pushed the Falcons into prime scoring range at the Carolina 22. Five plays later, the Falcons scored the touchdown that put them in front to stay. By the game's end, the Panthers defense proved it could clip the Falcons' wings, keeping them off the scoreboard on three of four second-half drives, including a pair of punts at the end of Atlanta's last two possessions. The offense wasn't back to its pace of 30-plus points per game in the second half of 2008, but it did rack up 440 yards -- 296 through the air and 144 on the ground, showing the kind of balance that helped keep Atlanta's defense off-balance, particularly in the second and fourth quarters.

Terence Newman intercepted a pass and returned it 27 yards for the touchdown that sealed a 21-7 loss in front of 90,588 onlookers at Cowboys Stadium. Carolina took a 7-0 lead into intermission and received the opening kickoff of the second half, but the chance to add more points to the lead fizzled after a third-down pass from Delhomme to Rosario fell incomplete.

It was to be the first of four consecutive three-and-outs for the Panthers, who could only muster 36 yards on their first 12 plays of the second half. In the meantime, Dallas' offense began to resonate. It followed the Panthers' first second-half three-and-out with a field-goal drive, then mounted its only touchdown drive of the game on its next series to take the lead for good.

The Panthers nevertheless trailed by only six points after the Cowboys' fourth possession of the half, mainly due to a defense that bent throughout the night, but only broke once. Dallas advanced inside the Carolina 40 on all of their first four second-half drives, but the Panthers' defense held three times, including twice in goal-to-go situations and another when defensive pressure forced an errant Tony Romo pass that was called intentional grounding, forcing the Cowboys into a third-and-18 situation from which they could not escape.

Those defensive stands bought the offense one final chance to seize the game with 5:57 remaining. But after a 12-yard DeAngelo Williams pickup on first-and-10, the game was decided by Newman's interception.

Dante Wesley's fourth-quarter recovery of a muffed punt led to a Jonathan Stewart eight-yard touchdown run capping an 18-0 run to lead the Panthers to a 20-17 win over the Washington Redskins. The game's turning point came when wide receiver Kenny Moore returned a kickoff 55 yards with the Panthers trailing 17-2 in the third quarter. Two plays later, quarterback Jake Delhomme found Steve Smith for 18 yards and a first down; two snaps after that, Delhomme hit tight end Jeff King for a 17-yard touchdown. In just 95 seconds, the game had turned from a potential Washington blowout into a contest in which the Panthers had the game's longest touchdown drive -- 40 yards -- and all the momentum.

The teams combined for seven fumbles -- four by Carolina, three by Washington -- with one being lost by each side. Until a third-quarter touchdown pass from Delhomme to King, the Panthers' only score was on a safety. Carolina trailed 17-2, and both of the Redskins' touchdowns had come off turnovers -- a fumble and an interception that skipped past Muhsin Muhammad into the grasp of the Redskins' Hall. The combined yardage of the Washington scoring drives was just 14 yards. Those short fields rendering null an otherwise stellar performance by the defense, whose safety -- credited to Julius Peppers and Thomas Davis -- accounted for Carolina's only score to that point. Quarterback Jake Delhomme sealed the win with a nine-yard naked bootleg into the open field just after the two-minute warning for a first down.

DeAngelo Williams and Jonathan Stewart combined for 76 yards on 15 carries on a fourth-quarter drive and 262 for the game, culminating in Williams' 1-yard touchdown run with 29 seconds left that sealed a 28-21 Carolina win over the Buccaneers. Their efforts helped the Panthers to the second-best rushing day in franchise annals: a 48-carry, 267-yard performance only surpassed by the 299-yard effort against the Buccaneers last December. The Panthers picked up 93 yards in the fourth quarter. The Panthers faced third down three times on that eight-minute, four-second drive. None was longer than three yards, and two were third-and-ones. Tampa Bay overcame a 14 point second-half deficit when two consecutive Carolina drives ended in interceptions, the second of which was returned 26 yards for a touchdown by Bucs safety Tanard Jackson, forcing a 21-all deadlock. Williams and Stewart took over. Not only did they provide the final, decisive runs, but they got the offense uncorked. After an unsteady first quarter, the Panthers turned to the runners early in the second, as they carried five consecutive snaps for 46 yards. The final 20 came on a Williams sprint to the left side and tied the score at 7-apiece, where the score remained until halftime. On the opening series of the second half, Buccaneers quarterback Josh Johnson lobbed a pass for Michael Clayton that Thomas Davis played perfectly, leaping back for the pass and returning it 24 yards to the Tampa Bay 12-yard-line. The Panthers turned that favorable field position into points five plays later when Delhomme located a leaping, rotating Jeff King in the back of the end zone; King grabbed the pass as Tampa Bay's Geno Hayes closed in and hung on for the score and a 14-7 Carolina lead. Carolina expanded that lead later the quarter when Stewart rambled into the secondary, cut right and then went around a Muhsin Muhammad block for the final 15 yards of a 26-yard scoring jaunt that pushed the Panthers' lead to 21-7.

Four turnovers -- three of which led to 17 Buffalo points -- were the undoing of the Panthers in a 20-9 home defeat to the Buffalo Bills. Their massive advantages in total yardage (425-167) and first downs (20-9) were rendered moot by giveaways, penalties and a pair of missed field goals. Two interceptions gave the Bills short fields that allowed them to score both of their touchdowns. They only needed to march seven and 27 yards to their two scores -- a 7-yard Marshawn Lynch run and a 2-yard pass from Ryan Fitzpatrick to Lee Evans. Yet the interceptions and the scores they spawned were not enough to knock out the Panthers, thanks to a defense that nearly forced as many Bills punts (eight) as first downs allowed (nine). On seven of 14 series, the Bills didn't even get a first down -- including a three-and-out with just under six minutes remaining. At that juncture, the Panthers' rash of giveaways flared up once again. A muffed punt at the Carolina 15-yard-line, allowed Buffalo tight end Derek Fine to recover at the 20. Seven plays later, Rian Lindell drilled the 22-yard field goal that provided the final margin -- and the last of the 17 Bills points set up by Carolina turnovers.

A game-opening 15-play touchdown march got the Panthers going and they never looked back in a 34-21 victory over the Arizona Cardinals. The Carolina running game hammered out 44 runs for 270 yards, led by DeAngelo Williams' 158 yards in becoming the club's all-time leading rusher. Turnovers were the recipe for success for the Panthers as they collected six thefts off Arizona quarterback Kurt Warner -- five interceptions and a fourth-quarter fumble recovery. Defensive end Julius Peppers got things started with a pick midway through the second quarter. Peppers lingered in the backfield just long enough to intercept a pass intended for Beanie Wells and returning it 13 yards for the Panthers' first defensive touchdown since Week 1 of the 2008 season at San Diego.

Peppers' interception was the Panthers' third touchdown of the quarter -- following Jonathan Stewart's second score of the first half and Steve Smith's 50-yard touchdown reception -- and gave Carolina a 28-7 lead that Arizona would be unable to overcome. The Panthers failed to build on that lead in the second half, and the Cardinals gradually whittled down the edge, first to 14 points after a Warner touchdown pass to Ben Patrick, then to 10 after Tim Hightower plunged over the goal line from one yard out with 9:44 left. A Carolina three-and-out followed, giving the Cardinals hope for their biggest comeback in nearly 22 years.

With the outcome sliding into doubt midway through the fourth quarter, Peppers provided the knockout punch, dragging down Warner from behind and forcing loose the football. Tyler Brayton recovered at the Arizona 31 with 7:02 remaining. The Cardinals' replay challenge of the play failed, leaving them with no timeouts and effectively ending their hopes.

The New Orleans Saints stopped the Panthers three times in the final three minutes and scored on an Anthony Hargrove fumble recovery, dooming Carolina to a 30-20 loss. A game that began with everything going in Carolina's favor went awry in the third quarter, when a pair of Saints touchdowns were bracketed by a 19-play, 73-yard march that consumed nine minutes and 47 seconds but yielded only a 25-yard John Kasay field goal after an aborted snap and a backfield collision on first-and-goal from the New Orleans 1 pushed the Panthers back six yards and the Panthers settled for three points. Because of that, a potential 24-13 lead was just seven points, and six plays later a 54-yard Drew Brees-to-Robert Meachem touchdown created a 20-all deadlock as the fourth quarter began. Carolina's defense rebounded in the final quarter, even after losing linebacker Thomas Davis to a knee injury with 10:40 remaining. Carolina stifled the Saints in the red zone with five minutes remaining, forcing end-zone incompletions on consecutive plays that led to a 40-yard John Carney field goal and a 23-20 Saints lead. One series later, the defense coaxed a three-and-out with 2:29 remaining, giving Carolina's offense another chance.

On their first possession with a deficit, the Panthers used 11- and 19-yard passes from Delhomme to Gary Barnidge and Tyrell Sutton to move into New Orleans territory. But the drive stalled on consecutive deep incompletions from the Saints 43, then died when Delhomme was sacked by Will Smith on fourth-and-8. The Panthers burst out of the locker room after kickoff and raced to a 14-0 lead in the game's first nine minutes on 66- and 7-yard scampers by Williams. His second score was set up when Tyler Brayton sacked Brees, forcing a fumble that Beason recovered at the New Orleans 11-yard-line. But the Panthers wouldn't cross the goal line after that. Three more forays into the New Orleans red zone netted just six points.

A late rally was not enough to prevent a 24-17 defeat that saw the Panthers fall short in their fourth attempt to reach the break-even point this season -- and their third in the last six games.

Miami quarterback Chad Henne located Davone Bess for 15 yards on third-and-12 in the fourth quarter and Ricky Williams crossed the goal line with a 46-yard touchdown run on the next play, to leave the Panthers gasping. After falling behind 17-6 late in the fourth quarter, the Panthers capitalized on a determined 68-yard march that culminated in a 27-yard Delhomme touchdown pass to Steve Smith.

But missed opportunities were the story of the game. Carolina's offense outgained Miami by 57 yards (383 to 326), had five more first downs (22-17) and three times drove to at least the Miami 20-yard-line. But only two of those possessions ended in scores, and neither of those were touchdowns, as a pair of goal-to-go situations stalled and netted John Kasay field goals. The other red-zone failure came on the first series of the third quarter, when DeAngelo Williams' 50-yard run up the left sideline went for naught after a pass was intercepted by Miami's Nathan Jones at the Dolphins 40-yard-line. Ricky Williams rushed for 119 yards and two touchdowns for Miami, while Henne completed 17-of-29 passes for 172 yards and one touchdown to lead the Dolphins to victory.

The New York Jets limited Carolina to just 176 yards, only 2.8 yards per play and ended the game by stopping them on 12 of 13 third downs after allowing the Panthers to convert their first three in route to a 17-6 victory. The Panthers' first possession ended in an interception, as did their last scoring threat with 70 seconds remaining. In between, there were two more interceptions, a pair of red-zone stalls, a touchdown reception erased from the scoreboard by instant replay and an eight-possession slump that produced just 48 yards on 28 plays and more punts (four) than first downs (three). That wouldn't be nearly enough, not even on a breezy day that saw Carolina's defense allow only one drive longer than 38 yards and force three turnovers -- including a Chris Harris strip of Dustin Keller at the Carolina goal line in the third quarter, saving a touchdown and keeping the Panthers within shouting distance -- an 11-point deficit they narrowed to eight on a John Kasay field goal with 11:45 remaining in the game. But as was the case in other defeats, giveaways proved costly. One Jets touchdown came on a 67-yard Darrelle Revis interception return; the other was a short-field score, spawned by an interception that gave them possession at the Carolina 38.

The Panthers repeatedly stood strong against the Bucs when they neared the goal line, allowing no touchdowns and just two field goals on eight drives inside their 25-yard-line to hold on for a 16-6 victory at Bank of America Stadium. Four of Tampa Bay's drives ended in interceptions and two more yielded missed field goals. When the field shortened, the Panthers clamped down and produced turnovers, as nine Tampa Bay pass plays inside the Carolina 25-yard-line resulted in four takeaways. When factoring in a sack, the Bucs mustered just 0.9 yards per pass play inside the Carolina 25. The turnover margin worked in the Panthers' favor – plus-three for the day. The Bucs' put together a few nice drives in the second half, including one that saw them march 62 yards to the Carolina 18, but the drive was fruitless after a 36-yard field-goal attempt slammed off the left upright. A 42-yard fourth-quarter attempt that could have pulled Tampa Bay back within seven points missed wide right, effectively ending the Bucs' hopes.

The Panthers were paced by Jonathan Stewart, who rushed for 120 yards in his first NFL start for the injured DeAngelo Williams, and quarterback Matt Moore, who started for the injured Jake Delhomme.

The Carolina Panthers couldn't muster enough consistent offense and couldn't prevent a 96-yard, third-quarter Patriots drive that gave them the lead for good in route to a 20-10 victory. Carolina jumped out to an early lead in the first quarter turning a Chris Gamble interception of Patriots quarterback Tom Brady into a 41-yard touchdown strike from quarterback Matt Moore to wide receiver Steve Smith. The lead wouldn't last as the Patriots answered on a three-yard scoring run from running back Kevin Faulk. The third quarter began with the Panthers' third takeaway of the game, coming when Charles Godfrey jarred loose the football from Morris, allowing linebacker Dan Connor to recover. A subsequent punt was downed at the New England 4 after Dante Wesley saved it from going into the end zone, but the Patriots replied with a 13-play, 96-yard march that only saw them forced into two third downs. Both were converted, via passes of 13 and five yards to Wes Welker and Watson, respectively. Watson had the score with his third-and-goal reception to give the Patriots the lead for good. A 47-yard Stephen Gostkowski field goal with 3:56 remaining sealed the victory.

The Panthers saved their best for last, breaking open a close game with three fourth-quarter touchdowns for a resounding 26-7 win in front of 73,515 onlookers at Bank of America Stadium. A commitment to the ground game, selective and efficient passing, stubborn third-down defense and a penchant for takeaways were the keys to victory. Even though the Panthers lost running back DeAngelo Williams to an ankle injury late in the first quarter, a patchwork offensive line now featuring two replacement starters who hadn't played an offensive snap prior to this season, allowed Jonathan Stewart to become the first 100-yard rusher in the Vikings' last 36 games, ending the longest such streak in the league. Stewart finished the game with 109 yards on 25 carries and scored the Panthers' final two touchdowns on a 3-yard run and a 2-yard pass from quarterback Matt Moore, breaking open a tight game that was tied or separated by one point for over 39 of the game's first 45 minutes. After throwing for 139 yards on 16-of-26 passing in the first three quarters, quarterback Matt Moore exploded in the fourth, finding Steve Smith for a 42-yard touchdown on the second play of the quarter and surging to a 5-of-7, 160-yard, two-touchdown final stanza.

Jonathan Stewart gained more yards than any visiting runner against the Giants at Giants Stadium, posting the first 200-yard game in Panthers history and giving the 2009 Panthers a place in football history as just the sixth team to boast two 1,000-yard runners in a single season. After converting three consecutive third downs on their opening series to march to the Carolina 30-yard-line, New York looked poised to carry the momentum from a Monday night win over the Redskins. But on third-and-14 at the Carolina 30, the day's other dominant theme -- takeaways -- bubbled to the surface when Jon Beason's hit jarred loose the football, allowing James Anderson to recover at the Carolina 20-yard-line. The Panthers were able to establish a 24 point lead heading into halftime. Matt Moore continued his steady play completing 15-of-20 passes for 171 yards and three touchdowns. On the Panthers opening drive of the second half, Steve Smith caught two long receptions. Smith was injured on his second reception of that drive -- which went for a touchdown after he bounced away from Giants strong safety Michael Johnson. The result was the Panthers' highest point total since a 44-point outburst at Atlanta on Jan. 1, 2006.

Carolina wrapped up a strong finish that seemed impossible a few weeks earlier in the Panthers 23-10 season closing victory over playoff-bound New Orleans. The win salvaged an 8-8 record after the Panthers concluded with four wins in their last five games. The formula against the depleted Saints was very much the same as in the previous four weeks as quarterback Matt Moore guided Carolina to a turnover-free performance on offense and the defense proved opportunistic while creating three turnovers. It did not take the Panthers long to reach the scoreboard or record book as Jonathan Stewart galloped 67-yards for a touchdown. A few carries later on his way to a 16-carry, 125 yard game, Stewart eclipsed the 1,100 yard mark for the season, leaving he and DeAngelo Williams as the first pair of backs in NFL history to gain 1,100 yards in a single season. Moore completed 14 of 23 passes, including seven for 85 yards to Muhsin Muhammad in his final game as a Panther. The Carolina defense completed a strong finish to the season, allowing just 213 yards total offense to move to eighth in yardage allowed for the season. Once again, the Panthers were led by linebacker Jon Beason, who completed the year with a team record 169 tackles.

NFC DIVISIONAL PLAYOFFS

CAROLINA 26, DALLAS 17

January 5, 1997 - Ericsson Stadium - Charlotte

WEATHER: Partly Cloudy, 67°, Wind SW 15 mph - ATTENDANCE: 72,808 - TIME: 2:58

In the first playoff game in team history, the Carolina Panthers stuck to a formula that had worked all season, using an opportunistic offense, a Sam Mills led defense, solid special teams and an uplifting record-sized crowd to defeat the defending Super Bowl Champion Dallas Cowboys 26-17.

Running back Anthony Johnson earned his sixth 100-yard game of the season behind a performance by the offensive line which did not allow quarterback Kerry Collins to be sacked all day. Collins completed a workmanlike 12 of 22 passes for 100 yards and two touchdowns and directed the team to 17 first-half points. The defense supplied a team effort with interceptions by Chad Cota, Pat Terrell and Mills and sacks by Lamar Lathon and Les Miller, while successfully executing three goal-line stands from inside their own five-yard line. Kicker John Kasay converted on all four field goal attempts.

The Cowboys took a 3-0 lead on a 22-yard field goal before a Collins pass to Walls following a 68-yard drive put the Panthers ahead 7-3. After trading touchdowns, the Cowboys got within three following a Panthers safety when a snap sailed over punter Rohn Stark's head. Cota's interception on Dallas' ensuing possession, however, set up a 24-yard Kasay field goal and a 17-11 halftime lead.

The two teams traded field goals in the third quarter and again to begin the fourth, with Chris Boniol converting twice from 21 and Kasay twice from 40. After the Panthers downed a Stark punt at the one, Terrell's interception set up a Kasay 32-yard conversion before Mills' interception and return to the one, sealed the game.

NFC CHAMPIONSHIP

GREEN BAY 30, CAROLINA 13

January 12, 1997 - Lambeau Field - Green Bay

WEATHER: Cold and Windy, 3°, Wind W 10 mph - ATTENDANCE: 60,216 - TIME: 3:04

On a day with wind chill temperatures at more than 20 below zero, the Carolina Panthers surrendered 17 second-quarter points and 479 yards of total offense to the Green Bay Packers and fell one game short of the Super Bowl, 30-13.

The Panthers got ahead early following a Sam Mills interception at the Green Bay 12, which was returned to the two. Kerry Collins found fullback Howard Griffith all alone in the end zone two plays later for a 7-0 Carolina lead.

After Brett Favre drove the Packers for their first touchdown, the Panthers replied with a John Kasay 22-yard field goal following a Lamar Lathon recovery of a Favre fumble. The Packers came back with a touchdown and a field goal before the half, however, and held a 17-10 advantage at the break.

Both teams traded field goals to open the second half before a Dorsey Levens 66-yard reception off a screen set up a Packers touchdown. A Packers fourth-quarter field goal following a Panthers fumble supplied the 30-13 margin.

Mills led the defense with 14 tackles and an interception while Collins completed 19 of 37 passes for 215 yards, with a touchdown and two interceptions. Willie Green led all Panthers in receiving with 51 yards on five receptions.

NFC WILDCARD GAME

CAROLINA 29, DALLAS 10

January 3, 2004 - Ericsson Stadium - Charlotte

WEATHER: Partly Cloudy, 63°, Wind SSW 9 mph - ATTENDANCE: 72,324 - TIME: 2:56

Behind a dominating defense, Carolina defeated the Dallas Cowboys, 29-10, at Ericsson Stadium to reach the second-round of the playoffs for the first time since the 1996 season. The Panthers held the Cowboys to 204 yards of total offense while not giving up any penalties or turnovers.

Quarterback Jake Delhomme completed 18-of-29 passes for 273 yards and a touchdown, running back Stephen Davis rushed 26 times for 104 yards, wide receiver Steve Smith caught five passes for 135 yards and a touchdown, and kicker John Kasay converted on all five of his field goal attempts.

On Carolina's third play from scrimmage, Delhomme hit Smith in the flat, and Smith raced 70 yards to the Cowboys one-yard line. Four plays later Kasay booted his first field goal from 18 yards out, and the Panthers never looked back.

Carolina took advantage of field position later in the first quarter as Kasay made his second field goal, this time from 38 yards, to give the Panthers a 6-0 lead. In the second quarter, Carolina started another drive in Dallas territory, and Davis rambled 23 yards for a touchdown to give the Panthers a 13-0 lead.

Cowboys kicker Billy Cundiff put the Cowboys on the board with a 37-yard field goal late in the second quarter. Carolina got one more field goal from Kasay to close out the first half leaving the score 16-3 at the break.

The Panthers added a 32-yard Delhomme-to-Smith touchdown pass and Kasay's fourth field goal to stretch the lead to 26-3 before Dallas answered with a nine-yard touchdown run by quarterback Quincy Carter. Kasay's fifth field goal with 3:12 remaining provided the final margin.

Panthers middle linebacker Dan Morgan led the defense with 12 tackles, while Al Wallace, Kris Jenkins and Reggie Howard contributed a sack a piece. Davis posted his eighth 100-yard rushing game of the season.

NFC DIVISIONAL PLAYOFFS

CAROLINA 29, St. Louis 23 (2 OT)

January 10, 2004 - Edward Jones Dome - St. Louis

WEATHER: Played Indoors on Artificial Turf - ATTENDANCE: 66,165 - TIME: 4:06

The Panthers defeated the host St. Louis Rams 29-23 in double overtime at the Edward Jones Dome to earn their second trip to the NFC Championship Game. Steve Smith took a pass from Jake Delhomme and sprinted to a game-winning touchdown to closeout the game, the fifth longest in NFL history and the longest ever for the Panthers.

The Carolina defense held the Rams to two field goals in the first half before Panthers wide receiver Muhsin Muhammad recovered a deflected lateral by Delhomme in the end zone for a touchdown. Each team added a field goal each, to give the Panthers a one-point lead at the half, 10-9.

The Panthers built an 11-point lead in the fourth quarter off a Brad Hoover touchdown and John Kasay field goal, but the Rams scored 11 points in the last 2:39 of regulation to force overtime.

The Panthers took the opening drive of overtime to the St. Louis 22-yard line, but a delay-of-game penalty canceled Kasay's successful 40-yard field goal. Kasay then missed the second attempt three plays later from 45 yards out.

The Rams drove to the Carolina 35-yard line on their first possession in overtime, but kicker Jeff Wilkins, who had already made five field goals, was inches short on a 53-yard attempt.

The Rams then drove to the Panthers 38-yard line on their ensuing possession when cornerback Ricky Manning Jr. outtrewsted Rams receiver Torry Holt for the ball and came down with the interception.

Facing third-and-14 from their own 31-yard line on the first play of the second overtime, Delhomme hit Smith on a slant pattern for 69 yards and the game-winning points.

The Panthers outgained the Rams 485 yards to 380, including 216 to 64 in rushing yardage. They won the time of possession battle 41:06 to 34:04 and held the Rams to just six possessions and 12 points through the first three quarters.

Delhomme completed 16-of-26 passes for 290 yards, with one touchdown and one interception for a quarterback rating of 96.6. Running back DeShaun Foster stepped in for an injured Stephen Davis, who left the game in the second quarter, and contributed 95 yards on 21 carries.

NFC CHAMPIONSHIP

CAROLINA 14, PHILADELPHIA 3

January 18, 2004 - Lincoln Financial Field - Philadelphia

WEATHER: Mostly Cloudy, 33°, Wind WNW 19 mph - ATTENDANCE: 67,862 - TIME: 2:58

In just their ninth season of existence, the Panthers claimed a bid to Super Bowl XXXVIII by defeating the Philadelphia Eagles 14-3 at Lincoln Financial Field in the NFC Championship game. Carolina took advantage of four interceptions, three by rookie cornerback Ricky Manning, to hold the Philadelphia offense to only one field goal.

The first quarter was scoreless as both teams punted twice. Early in the second quarter, a Carolina fumble was recovered by Jermaine Wiggins to gain the first down and allow the Panthers to continue what would be the first scoring drive of the game.

On first-and-10 from the Philadelphia 24-yard line, Delhomme hit wide receiver Muhsin Muhammad in the end zone for the score. A John Kasay PAT kick gave the Panthers a 7-0 lead.

The Eagles went three-and-out on their final two possessions of the third quarter, and their final threat ended midway through the fourth quarter when backup quarterback Koy Detmer, who replaced an injured McNabb, was intercepted by Dan Morgan at the Carolina 11-yard line to thwart the Eagles final significant scoring opportunity.

Morgan led Carolina with 13 tackles and one interception while Brentson Buckner contributed 1.5 sacks. Running back Stephen Davis added 76 yards on 19 carries as the Panthers rushed for a total 155 yards.

SUPER BOWL XXXVIII

NEW ENGLAND 32, CAROLINA 29

February 1, 2004 - Reliant Stadium - Houston

WEATHER: Played indoors on grass - ATTENDANCE: 71,525 - TIME: 4:05

In their first Super Bowl, the Carolina Panthers scored 19 fourth-quarter points to tie New England with one minute remaining, but kicker Adam Vinatieri converted a 41-yard field goal to give the Patriots a 32-29 victory for their second Super Bowl victory in three seasons.

The first quarter was scoreless, with help from the Panthers defense who kept New England off the board by blocking one Vinatieri field goal and withstanding another missed attempt.

In the second quarter, a Carolina fumble on the 19-yard line was recovered by defensive tackle Richard Seymour and set up a Tom Brady five-yard touchdown pass to Deion Branch. The touchdown broke the tie with 3:10 remaining in the half, the longest a Super Bowl had ever gone without a score.

Quarterback Jake Delhomme led the Panthers on an eight-play, 95-yard drive, the second longest in Super Bowl history, that culminated with a Delhomme-to-Steve Smith touchdown pass from 39 yards out.

Brady completed four of six passes for 78 yards, and with 23 seconds remaining in the half, hit wide receiver David Givens with another five-yard touchdown pass to put the Patriots back in front, 14-7.

Kris Mangum returned a kickoff to the Panthers 47-yard line and after a 21-yard run by Stephen Davis, the Panthers called timeout with five seconds left. John Kasay booted a 50-yard field goal as the first half expired to make it 14-10.

On the second play of the fourth quarter, Patriots running back Antowain Smith scored on a two-yard run that extended the New England lead to 21-10.

DeShaun Foster finished a six-play, 81-yard Panther drive with a 33-yard touchdown run, the fourth-longest run in Super Bowl history. Carolina missed on their two-point attempt and the score was 21-16.

New England drove down the field and threatened to extend their lead once again, but Reggie Howard intercepted Brady's pass in the end zone and returned it to the 10-yard line.

Three plays later, Delhomme hit Muhsin Muhammad for an 85-yard touchdown, giving the Panthers their first lead with 7:06 remaining in the game. The Panthers missed on another two-point attempt, keeping the score 22-21.

The scoring continued as the Patriots drove 68 yards in 11 plays, ending with a Mike Vrabel touchdown. New England converted their two-point attempt and led 29-22 with 2:55 remaining.

Delhomme then drove his team 80 yards on just seven plays, hitting Ricky Proehl across the middle for a 12-yard touchdown that tied the game with 1:13 remaining. However, Brady mounted one last scoring drive to set up Vinatieri at the Carolina 34-yard line for the winning kick.

NFC WILD CARD GAME

CAROLINA 23, NEW YORK GIANTS 0

January 8, 2006 - Giants Stadium - East Rutherford

WEATHER: Sunny, 44° - ATTENDANCE: 79,378 - TIME: 2:39

Carolina's defense held a New York Giants offense that ranked third in the NFL in points per game scoreless en route to notching the third shutout in team history with a 23-0 victory over the Giants in the NFC Wild Card game. — Carolina became the first team to register a shutout on the road in the playoffs since 1980 when the Los Angeles Rams posted a 9-0 victory at Tampa Bay (01/05/80) in the 1979 NFC Championship. — The Panthers forced five sacks and five turnovers, converting four of them into 16 points. — The defense yielded a season-low 132 total net yards to New York, who ranked fourth in the NFL in total offense during the regular season with an average of 361.7 yards per game. — Running back DeShaun Foster rushed for 151 yards to help the Panthers accumulate 223 yards rushing on 45 attempts and maintain possession for 42:45. The time of possession was the highest in team history for any game, bettering the previous record of 41:51 at New Orleans (12/05/04). The team's rushing attempts tied for the most in team history and the rushing yards equalled the second-highest total. — Safety Marlon McCree matched his career-high with two interceptions.

NFC DIVISIONAL PLAYOFFS

CAROLINA 29, CHICAGO 21

January 15, 2006 - Soldier Field - Chicago

WEATHER: Partly Cloudy, 40° - ATTENDANCE: 62,209 - TIME: 3:23

Carolina totaled 434 yards against the NFL's second-ranked defense in a 29-21 victory over the Chicago Bears in the NFC Divisional Playoffs. — The contest marked the Panthers fourth consecutive postseason road victory to equal the NFL record for the most consecutive road postseason victories, previously accomplished by Dallas from 1975-81. — The Panthers became the fourth team since 1990 to win an NFC Divisional Playoff game on the road. — Carolina allowed one sack against the Bears after allowing a season-high eight in their regular season contest at Chicago (11/20/05) and scored 29 points against a Bears defense that allowed a League-low 12.9 points per game during the regular season and a total of 61 points at home during the regular season. — Wide receiver Steve Smith amassed 218 yards receiving, the most in team history and fourth-highest total in a playoff game in NFL history, and two touchdowns on 12 receptions, which tied for the second-most catches in NFL postseason history. — Quarterback Jake Delhomme registered his second career 300-yard passing effort in the playoffs and his fifth postseason game with a passer rating of 100 or more. — The Panthers defense yielded only three-of-13 third down conversions against the Bears. With the victory, head coach John Fox became only the fifth head coach in NFL history to record at least four postseason road wins.

NFC CHAMPIONSHIP
SEATTLE 34, CAROLINA 14
January 22, 2006 - Qwest Field - Seattle

WEATHER: Overcast, 48° - ATTENDANCE: 67,837 - TIME: 3:09

Seattle's defense forced four turnovers and held the Panthers to 212 total yards in a 34-14 victory in the 2005 NFC Championship Game. — Carolina was limited to 36 yards by the Seahawks fifth-ranked rushing defense and converted only one-of-nine third down opportunities. Interceptions on consecutive Carolina possessions enabled Seattle to transform a 7-0 lead into a 17-0 advantage in the second quarter. — Wide receiver Steve Smith established an NFL record for the most catches in a postseason with 27, surpassing the previous mark of 23 set by Anthony Carter with Minnesota in the 1987 postseason. Smith's 59-yard punt return for a touchdown enabled him to become the first player in NFL history to score a touchdown on a run, pass and punt return in the same postseason. — Running back Nick Goings, who started in place of the injured DeShaun Foster, was shaken up in the first quarter and did not return to the game.

NFC DIVISIONAL PLAYOFFS

ARIZONA 33, CAROLINA 13

January 10, 2009 - Bank of America Stadium - Charlotte

WEATHER: Showers, 45°, SW 10 MPH- ATTENDANCE: 73,695 - TIME: 3:11

The Carolina Panthers dropped a 33-13 decision at home in the NFC divisional playoffs to end the 2008 campaign. The Panthers jumped out to an early lead when Jonathan Stewart capped Carolina's opening drive with a nine-yard touchdown run. However, the Panthers only managed one more first down for the rest of the first half as they turned the ball over twice and punted three times. Arizona quarterback Kurt Warner hooked up with Larry Fitzgerald for 151 yards and a touchdown in the first half as the Cardinals jumped to a 27-7 lead at the intermission. Jake Delhomme found Steve Smith for an 8-yard touchdown in the fourth quarter. Delhomme finished with 205 yards on 17-34 passing with one touchdown and five interceptions. DeAngelo Williams managed 63 yards rushing on 12 carries. Defensively, Jon Beason notched a second-half interception along with nine tackles. Thomas Davis led the team with 11 tackles including one for a loss, while Damione Lewis recorded a sack.

TEAMHISTORY

- April 16 Jerry Richardson approaches NationsBank Chairman Hugh McColl about the idea of bringing an NFL team to the Carolinas.
- July 16 Jerry and Mark Richardson; NationsBank Chairman and Chief Executive Officer Hugh McColl, Jr.; attorney Richard Thigpen, Jr.; Max Muhleman of Muhleman Marketing and John Lewis of Arthur Andersen and Company meet in Charlotte to discuss the feasibility of entering the multi-city competition for two NFL expansion franchises.
- August 21 Mark Richardson travels to Kansas City, Missouri, to select HOK Sports Facilities Group as the architects for an NFL stadium, later named Ericsson Stadium.
- December 15 Jerry Richardson officially announces an NFL franchise bid and the stadium effort for the Carolinas and begins lobbying NFL owners.

1988

- July 1 Jerry Richardson announces the near completion of franchise financing plans and the selection of four possible stadium sites — two in York County, South Carolina, and two in North Carolina.

1989

- April 11 Mike McCormack, a Hall of Fame lineman with the Cleveland Browns and former president, general manager and head coach of the Seattle Seahawks, joins Richardson Sports as executive consultant for the Carolinas NFL expansion effort.
- August 20 At “Carolinas Kickoff ‘89” staged by Richardson Sports, a sellout crowd of 52,855 in Raleigh’s Carter-Finley Stadium watches the New York Jets and Philadelphia Eagles, demonstrating the region’s support of NFL football in the Carolinas.
- September 5 Jerry Richardson announces the formation of a 12-member partnership group to bolster his expansion effort.
- December 15 Richardson Sports selects a site in uptown Charlotte as the future site of a privately financed NFL stadium, which will seat more than 70,000 people.

1990

- August 11 “Carolinas Kickoff II” features the Washington Redskins and the Atlanta Falcons in a game billed as the “Backyard Battle” before a sellout crowd of 52,036 Carolinians, this time at Kenan Stadium in Chapel Hill, North Carolina.

1991

- February 26 F.N. Thompson Company of Charlotte is selected as the general contractor for the later-named Ericsson Stadium.
- June 26 South Carolina Governor Carroll Campbell and North Carolina Governor Jim Martin officially announce their support of NFL expansion in the Carolinas through the formation of a blue-ribbon committee of leading citizens from both states.
- August 24 69,117 fans cram Williams-Brice Stadium in Columbia, South Carolina for the “Victory Bowl” or “Carolinas Kickoff III.” The crowd represents the largest neutral-site attendance for an NFL exhibition game in 10 years.
- September 13 Richardson Sports submits a formal community application for a Carolinas NFL franchise along with a $100,000 deposit. This application outlines demographics and other market statistics and NationsBank commitment to finance the stadium.
- September 30 Richardson Sports submits a partnership application for a Carolinas franchise.
- December 10 Richardson Sports representatives make Carolina’s presentation to NFL Commissioner Paul Tagliabue, President Neil Austrian and their staff in New York.

- March 18 At the NFL owners meeting in Phoenix, the NFL reduces the number of expansion hopefuls from 11 to seven with the Carolinas’ bid making the cut.
- May 20 At the league meeting in Pasadena, California, the NFL cuts the list of expansion hopefuls to five communities — including the Carolinas.
- September 1 Jerry and Mark Richardson present a stadium financing plan to NFL officials at a meeting in Charlotte. Although no details are revealed publicly, the Richardsons disclose that no public money would be used to finance the stadium. This financing plan involves the sale of Permanent Seat Licenses (PSLs).
- October 20 At the NFL owners meeting in Chicago, league officials delay expansion until 1993 because of a labor dispute involving the players’ union collective bargaining agreement.

1993

- March 23 At the league meeting in Palm Desert, California, NFL owners announce the final timetable for expansion with plans calling for two teams to be awarded in October 1993.
- April 20 The NFL gives approval to Richardson Sports’ plan to privately finance a 72,300-seat stadium with the sale of Permanent Seat Licenses (PSLs).
- May 6 The NFL and its players reach a landmark settlement regarding a seven-year collective bargaining agreement, clearing the way for expansion.

May 20	Jerry Richardson unveils a model and renderings of the Panther blue, silver and black, 72,300-seat stadium that would house an NFL expansion team for the Carolinas.
May 25	At the owners meeting in Atlanta, the NFL announces the price for an expansion franchise — $140 million.
July 1	A Fair Share Agreement between Richardson Sports and the NAACP spells out far-reaching opportunities for minorities with the Carolinas NFL expansion team.
July 1	The sale of luxury suites, club seats and PSLs officially begins with Richardson Sports receiving 15,000 pieces of mail from first-day orders collected June 28-July 1. By the end of the first day, all 8,314 club seats sell out, and all 104 luxury suites are reserved and ultimately leased. (Later 33 additional suites are added to Carolinas Stadium.) First-day PSL orders total 41,632.
August 31	Richardson Sports travels to New York to deliver its financing plan to the NFL.
September 3	The ticket campaign for potential NFL expansion cities ends with the Carolinas receiving orders for 104 luxury suites, 8,314 club seats and 49,724 PSLs. Deposits for luxury suites, club seats and PSLs total $54 million, representing a total pledge of $112.7 million.
September 10	Richardson Sports delivers to the NFL term sheets for loans to construct a state-of-the-art stadium and purchase the franchise.
September 13	Richardson Sports and Clemson University announce that the Carolinas NFL expansion team would play its first season (1995) in Clemson Memorial Stadium, known as “Death Valley.”
September 22	Richardson Sports makes a 1 1/2-hour presentation to the NFL expansion and finance committees and league officials, including Commissioner Tagliabue. They report to the league that NationsBank and Wachovia have posted a $30-million guarantee to purchase unsold PSLs. Effectively, the stadium is sold out, and total money pledged is $142.7 million.
OCTOBER 26	At the league meeting in Chicago, NFL owners unanimously select the Carolinas as the 29th NFL franchise and the first expansion team since 1976. Owners also voted to delay selection of the second franchise until November 30 with Baltimore, St. Louis, Jacksonville and Memphis still under consideration.

January 1	Jon Richardson officially joins the Panthers as Director of Stadium Operations.
January 3	The Carolina Panthers put 12,000 remaining PSLs on sale. All orders received January 3-8 are given first-day priority. In addition, they announce that the remaining 10,000 PSLs will remain on sale until they are sold out. In all, Panthers fans respond from 16 states and the District of Columbia during the week-long priority period.
January 12	Jerry Richardson announces the hiring of veteran NFL executive Bill Polian as general manager and the promotion of Mike McCormack to club president.
April 22	Led by owner and founder Jerry Richardson, the Carolina Panthers hold the groundbreaking ceremony at the stadium's uptown site. The construction is expected to take 27 months to complete.
April 24	The Carolina Panthers move to the front of the 1995 draft order when owner and founder Jerry Richardson wins a coin flip with Wayne Weaver of the Jacksonville Jaguars during the NFL draft. Commissioner Paul Tagliabue flipped the coin at the NFL draft headquarters.
May 3	The Panthers accept Wofford Board Of Trustees Chairman Walt Sessions' invitation to hold training camp on the Spartanburg campus beginning with the inaugural season in 1995.
May 26	The NFL owners vote to pit the expansion Panthers and Jacksonville Jaguars against one another in the 1995 Hall of Fame game. The game will be the first game in team history for both franchises.
July 19	The Panthers select Winthrop University in Rock Hill, South Carolina, to be the team's temporary practice site until completion of the team's facilities at Ericsson Stadium.
October 5	The Carolina Panthers hold their first free agent workout at Winthrop University in Rock Hill, SC. Participating are former Duke running back Randy Cuthbert and former Johnson C. Smith wide receiver Gregory Clifton, along with Matt Elliott, Darryl Moore, Beno Bryant, and Jeff Pahuksa.
November 2	NFL Commissioner Paul Tagliabue slots the Carolina Panthers in the NFC West, joining the Atlanta Falcons, New Orleans Saints, Los Angeles Rams and San Francisco 49ers.
December 15	The original Carolina Panthers are signed. Matt Campbell, Randy Cuthbert, Kevin Farkas, Mike Finn, Willie Green, Carlson Leomiti, Darryl Moore, Tony Smith, Lawyer Tillman and Eric Weir form the group.

1995

January 4	The Panthers hire the team's first coaches, adding offensive line coach Jim McNally and wide receivers coach Richard Williamson, both from the Cincinnati Bengals.
January 23	The Panthers sign Dom Capers from the Pittsburgh Steelers as the first head coach in team history.
February 15	The Carolina Panthers select 35 players in the expansion draft. With the second overall pick they select cornerback Rod Smith from the New England Patriots.
February 20	The Carolina Panthers sign two unrestricted free agents: kicker John Kasay from the Seattle Seahawks and defensive end Mike Fox from the New York Giants. The signings mark the first unrestricted free agents to join the Panthers in team history.

April 4	The Panthers take the field for the first time as a team during the first of a series of off-season workout sessions.
April 22	The Carolina Panthers make quarterback Kerry Collins of Penn State the team's first draft choice, selecting him with the fifth overall selection, acquired from Cincinnati.
May 2	Panthers owner Jerry Richardson announces his resignation as chairman from Flagstar in order to devote his attention to his involvement in NFL activities.
May 3	Carolinas Stadium Corp hosts topping out ceremonies at the stadium, recognizing that construction has reached its highest point.
July 14	The Panthers report to the team's first ever training camp, marking the official beginning of the inaugural season campaign.
July 29	The Carolina Panthers defeat the Jacksonville Jaguars 20-14 in the Hall of Fame Game, becoming the first NFL team to win its inaugural contest.
September 3	The Panthers lose 23-20 in overtime to the Atlanta Falcons in the team's first regular-season game.
October 15	The Panthers earn their first win in franchise history, defeating the New York Jets 26-15, highlighted by Sam Mills' 36-yard interception return for a touchdown.
November 5	The Panthers win an expansion-record fourth game in a row, defeating the San Francisco 49ers 13-7 at 3Com Park, marking the first time in league history an expansion team defeated the defending world champion.
December 24	The Panthers wind up their inaugural season with a 7-9 record, more than doubling the previous expansion-best mark of three wins. The NFL seventh-ranked defense had the best record of any non-playoff team in the league over the last eleven weeks, posting a 7-4 record after opening the season 0-5. The team notches an expansion-best 5-3 home record at it's home-away-from-home field at Clemson's Memorial Stadium.

1996

June 26	Carolina Panthers Director of Business Operations Mark Richardson announces an agreement to name the Panthers new home Ericsson Stadium.
July 26	The six bronze panthers that flank each of Ericsson Stadium's main entrances are unveiled. The statues were the largest sculpture commission in the United States.
July 27	The gates of Ericsson Stadium are opened for the first time at PSL Appreciation Day marking the first public event in the Stadium.
August 3	The Panthers defeat the Chicago Bears 30-12 in a preseason game, the team's first contest in their new home.
September 1	The Panthers defeat the Atlanta Falcons 29-6 in the first regular season game at Ericsson Stadium.
December 22	Defeating the Pittsburgh Steelers 18-14 with a last minute goal-line stand, the Panthers conclude the 1996 regular season with a 12-4 record and the NFC West division title. The team recovered from a 5-4 start to win its last seven games and a first-round playoff bye. John Kasay's three field goals against the Steelers give him 37 for the season and a new single-season NFL record.

1997

January 5	The Panthers defeat the defending Super Bowl Champion Dallas Cowboys 26-17 at Ericsson Stadium in the team's first playoff game.
March 12	Panthers President Mike McCormack announces his retirement as president of the Carolina Panthers, ending a 46-year NFL career as a player, coach and executive.
April 2	Jon Richardson is named president of Carolinas Stadium Corp and Mark Richardson president of the Carolina Panthers.
September 21	Mike McCormack is inducted as the first member of the Carolina Panthers Hall of Honor.

1998

September 27	During halftime ceremonies of the Panthers game versus Green Bay, Sam Mills is inducted into the Carolina Panthers Hall of Honor as the first former player to be so recognized.
--------------	--

January 4	George Seifert, who guided San Francisco to two Super Bowl titles as head coach and won a total of five Super Bowl rings with the 49ers, is named as the second head coach of the Carolina Panthers. Seifert comes to Carolina after compiling an 108-35 (including playoffs) record in eight seasons at San Francisco, giving him the best winning percentage in NFL history (.755).
-----------	---

May 22	At the NFL Spring Meeting in Rosemont, Illinois, NFL owners unanimously approved the realignment of the League into eight four-team divisions when the Houston Texans begin play in 2002. Carolina was placed in the NFC South division with Atlanta, New Orleans and Tampa Bay.
--------	--

January 25	The Panthers name John Fox as the third head coach in franchise history. Carolina is the first head coaching position for Fox, who was the defensive coordinator for the New York Giants from 1997-2001.
February 22	Marty Hurney promoted to General Manager from Director of Football Operations.
September 8	Panthers break 15-consecutive game losing streak with 10-7 victory over Baltimore Ravens in John

Fox's head coaching debut.

2003

- September 7 Panthers stage biggest rally in team history, overcoming 17-0 deficit in season opener against Jacksonville as quarterback Jake Delhomme comes off the bench to throw three second half touchdown passes.
- October 12 Carolina goes 5-0 with an overtime victory at Indianapolis to record best start in franchise history as John Kasay kicks a 47-yard field goal.
- October 26 Panthers set NFL record with their third overtime road victory on a 31-yard John Kasay field goal as Stephen Davis sets a club record for yards rushing in a single game with 178 on 31 carries.
- December 14 Carolina wins its first NFC South title as John Kasay kicks a 49-yard field goal with four seconds remaining to give Panthers a 20-17 victory at Arizona and clinch second playoff berth in team history.

2004

- January 3 In the second home playoff game in team history and first since January 5, 1997, the Panthers defeat Dallas 29-10 at Ericsson Stadium.
- January 10 In fifth longest game in NFL history, the Panthers score on the first play of the second overtime as Jake Delhomme hits Steve Smith with a 69-yard scoring pass to give Carolina an NFC Divisional win at St. Louis, breaking a 14-game home winning streak by the Rams.
- January 16 Bank of America and Carolina Panthers announced an title sponsorship agreement at Founders Hall remaining the Panthers home Bank of America Stadium
- January 18 Carolina wins its first NFC Championship, defeating Philadelphia 14-3 at Lincoln Financial Field as Ricky Manning, Jr. ties an NFL Championship game record with three interceptions.
- February 1 The Panthers play in Super Bowl XXXVIII at Reliant Stadium in Houston, TX, losing to the New England Patriots 32-29.

2005

- August 13 The Panthers retired jersey number 51, making Sam Mills the only player in team history to receive the honor. Mills played for the Panthers from 1995-97 and earned a Pro Bowl selection in 1996. After retiring in 1997, Mills became a scout for the Panthers in 1998 and served as the team's linebackers coach from 1999-2004. He became the first former player and second member of the Panthers Hall of Honor in 1998.

- January 8 The Panthers registered the first road playoff shutout in the NFL since 1979, defeating the New York Giants, 23-0. In holding scoreless a New York team that ranked third in the League in scoring during the regular season, Carolina became the first NFL team to register a shutout on the road in the playoffs since the Los Angeles Rams posted a 9-0 victory at Tampa Bay (1/5/80) in the 1979 NFC Championship. Ironically, the last time head coach John Fox coached a playoff game at Giants Stadium, his defense also pitched a shutout. With Fox as the Giants defensive coordinator, New York shut out Minnesota, 41-0, in the 2000 NFC Championship. The shutout was Carolina's third in team history as the Panthers limited New York to 132 total net yards and rushed for 223 yards on offense.
- January 15 The Panthers won their fourth consecutive road game in the playoffs to equal the NFL record for the most consecutive postseason road victories, previously accomplished by the Dallas Cowboys from 1975-81. With the win, head coach John Fox became only the fifth head coach in NFL history to record at least four postseason victories. Wide receiver Steve Smith amassed 218 receiving yards and two touchdowns on 12 receptions. His receiving yardage ranked as the most in team history and the fourth-highest postseason total in NFL history. His 12 catches tied for the second-highest total in NFL postseason annals.

- December 28 Carolina defeats the New Orleans Saints, 33-31, on a John Kasay game-winning 42-yard field goal with one second remaining to clinch the NFC South division title and earn the franchise's fourth-ever playoff berth. The Panthers finished the regular season with a 12 victories, equaling the most wins in team history.

2009

- September 1 Jon Richardson resigns as president of Bank of America Stadium and Mark Richardson resigns as president of the Carolina Panthers.
- September 2 Danny Morrison is named president of the Carolina Panthers. He joins the organization with experience as Texas Christian University athletics director, Southern Conference commissioner and Wofford College athletics director and senior vice president.

BANK OF AMERICA STADIUM

OVERVIEW

Bank of America Stadium is located in the uptown district of Charlotte, NC, and was specifically designed for football by HOK Sports Facilities Group of Kansas City. The 73,778-seat, privately-financed, open-air, natural-grass stadium is designed as a self-contained headquarters, and includes training facilities, practice fields and administration offices. The stadium facade features a number of unique elements including massive arches and towers at the entries, clad in building materials that accent the Panthers black, blue and silver team colors. The interior has been designed to provide a generous ratio of concession and restroom facilities among wide and tall concourses, in addition to individual cup and program holders, wide seats, and state of the art sound, video and scoreboard systems.

DESIGN TEAM

HOK Sports Facilities Group has designed numerous sports facilities throughout the country.

CONSTRUCTION TEAM

The general contractors for Bank of America Stadium were the joint venture team of F.N. Thompson (Charlotte) and Turner Construction (New York), which also teamed to build the 23,600-seat Charlotte Coliseum.

LOCATION

The stadium and adjacent practice fields are located on 33 acres in uptown Charlotte, bordered by Interstate 277, Mint, Graham and Morehead streets. The stadium site has access to 30,000 existing parking spaces and more than 100 restaurants within a 15-minute walk. There are more than 30,000 hotel rooms in the Charlotte area.

DIMENSIONS

Stadium Footprint (900' L x 800' W)	15 acres
Public Area Surrounding Stadium (including plazas, walkways, etc)	11 acres
Practice Fields (two natural grass, one artificial)	7 acres
Total Stadium and adjacent landscaping and practice fields	33 acres
Height (from playing field to top of scoreboard)	13 stories (180')
Internal space (covered space)	1,600,000 sq ft
Concourse length (outermost circumference)	1/2 mile

SEATING CAPACITY

There are 73,778 seats at Bank of America Stadium distributed as follows:

Lower Bowl	22,714
Upper Bowl	37,138
Club Level	11,209
Suites	2,717

PLAYING FIELD

The stadium's state-of-the-art playing field is 398 feet long and 280 feet wide and features sophisticated drainage and irrigation systems. The playing surface is a hybrid Bermuda grass. The field drains between 10 and 12 inches of rain per hour. The field has a 10" crown.

SEATING WIDTH

The upper and lower seating areas feature a 19" width while the club seating is 21" wide.

BANK OF AMERICA CLUB SEATING

The Silver Club level at Bank of America Stadium, seating 11,209 patrons, is positioned along both sidelines of the field. Both Silver Club Members and Luxury Suite Members have access to a total of eight lounge areas. The two 50-yard line lounges are the signature of the Silver Club, in addition to the four-themed lounges (one in each corner). The themed lounges offer a wide variety of options for members and their guests from the interactive fan TV studio and interactive kiosks to “Chalk Talks” from former Panthers players. Food and beverage selections include stadium favorites to sit down dining.

SUITES

There are 158 suites in Bank of America Stadium. The suites range from 10-person suites (12' wide x 32' deep) to 40-person suites (40' wide x 32' deep).

Suites have three main components: viewing seats, lounge space and toilet facilities.

- Viewing seats are fully upholstered chairs positioned behind operable glass along the front of the seat and include a beverage rail for convenience.
- The lounge space is the central portion of the suite, outfitted with lounge furniture and buffet tables. The rear of the space includes a service counter with a built-in sink, refrigerator and ice maker. A variety of game day catering options is available for suite tenants.
- Additionally, each suite has private toilet facilities at the rear of each suite. A coat and general storage closet also is located in this area.

All suites are fully upfitted with high-quality finishes, carpet and wall coverings, and flat screened TV monitors are located in the lounge space and in front of the viewing seats. Individual suite sound systems offer patrons a choice of audio/video options and separate heating and cooling systems allow for individual suite climate control.

SUITE 87

From the seamless glass overlooking the field to the personalized lockers, private bar and television video wall carrying every NFL game in progress, the Suite 87 Club takes the NFL experience to new heights. Designed exclusively for the football fan with discriminating taste, Suite 87 Club membership is an experience unlike any other. The 7,860-square foot Suite 87 Club accommodates 124 members. Each Suite 87 Club membership consists of one reserved seat in the Suite Club with full amenity privileges as well as access to the Silver Club Level lounges, including the Panthers Den, Red Zone, Press Box and Locker Room.

GRIDIRON CLUB

Boasting an urban design incorporating distressed concrete and brushed steel, the Gridiron Club elevates your game day experience at Bank of America Stadium. Featuring assigned outside seating and an exclusive climate controlled lounge inside, the Gridiron Club combines the sights and sounds of the game with amenities that are available exclusively to Club members.

Outside, your NFL experience comes to life in three rows of terrace seating shielded from the elements by the ledge above and featuring radiant heat and cooling fans. If fans need a closer look at the action, flat screen televisions line the fascia of the seating area to review that last play.

Walk inside the seamless glass directly behind the viewing seats to the exclusive 10,000-square foot Club, featuring concierge service, private restrooms, hot and cold market with food options and full service bar. If you need to check the score of another game, watch any one of the flat screen televisions throughout the Club showing each game in the NFL. Or, sit in the custom designed theatre equipped with a 103" television for the ultimate experience of the action inside.

VIEWING DISTANCE

The first row of seating is located 53 feet from the sideline, while the endline of the end zone is 20 feet from the field wall. All seats are elevated and designed for optimal viewing angles.

FOOD SERVICE

Provided by Stadium Food & Beverage, Bank of America Stadium offers an abundance of food options and a generous ratio of concession points of sale, designed to increase food quality while reducing customer waiting time.

The following is a breakdown of the number of concession points of sale:

Lower Concourse.....	146 Points of Sale — 1 per 150 seats in the lower bowl
Club/Suite Levels	127 Points of Sale — 1 per 102 seats in the Club/Suite levels
Upper Concourse	156 Points of Sale — 1 per 234 seats in the upper bowl
TOTAL	429 Points of Sale — 1 per 171 seats in the stadium

Stadiums normally offer one point of sale per every 300 to 350 spectators. Concession stands offer hot dogs, hamburgers, nachos, pizza, barbecue, ice cream and other stadium fare.

PANTHERVISION

PantherVision controls all of the video displays, message boards and television monitors at Bank of America Stadium, as well as the stadium's public address and sound system. PantherVision is a proud member of the Information Display and Entertainment Association, a national association of electronic display system professionals comprised of teams, facilities, manufacturers and suppliers. Following is a list of the various displays and technologies that are utilized in the stadium's seating bowl:

SIDELINE DISPLAYS: Located on each sideline, between the 300 and 400 levels, are displays and advertising panels that include:

- One 5' x 300' Daktronics ProAd LED display (for showing game-in-progress statistics and information, game prompts, out-of-town scores and advertising messages)
- Four 5' x 15' internally illuminated advertising panels

CORNER DISPLAYS: Located in the northwest and southeast corners of the stadium, between the 300 and 400 levels, is the following display:

- One 5' x 9' delay-of-game clock
- Two 5' x 6' internally illuminated logo panels
- Two 5' x 15' internally illuminated advertising panels

Located in each end of the stadium, above the 500 level seating area, are displays and advertising panels that include:

- One 31.5' x 77' Mitsubishi DiamondVision LED display (shows live action, replays, video features, game information, statistics, game prompts and advertising messages)
- Three 24' x 32' advertising panels
- One 24' x 32' Tri-Vision (three-sided) advertising panel
- Two 9' x 12' advertising panels
- One 12' x 76' advertising panel
- Four line array speaker clusters at the top of the west end scoreboard only

RESTROOM FACILITIES

Bank of America Stadium offers a generous toilet fixture ratio of one fixture per 80 men and one per 70 women. Many restrooms feature diaper changing tables, and all are handicap accessible. In addition, unisex/family restrooms are available for parents escorting children of the opposite sex.

The total number of public restrooms throughout the stadium includes:

Lower Concourse	31	(10 men's, 10 women's, 11 unisex/family)
Club/Suite Levels	20	(8 men's, 8 women's, 4 unisex/family)
Upper Concourse	44	(18 men's, 18 women's, 8 unisex/family)
TOTAL	95	(36 men's, 36 women's, 23 unisex/family)

Stadiums normally offer a toilet fixture ratio of one per 100 men and one per 90 women.

OTHER EVENTS

In addition to Panthers games, Bank of America Stadium has been host to a number of other high profile events, including the Rev. Billy Graham's 1996 four-day Carolinas Crusade and the Rolling Stones 1997 Bridges to Babylon tour. The stadium has been the site for numerous college football and college and professional soccer matches. This year, the Mexican National Team played host to Iceland in an exhibition match. In addition, Bank of America Stadium hosts the annual Meineke Car Care bowl each December. Bank of America Stadium is the site for the 2010-11 ACC football championship game. Future regular season college football games include South Carolina versus East Carolina (2011 and 2014).

SIRPURR

The Carolina Panthers mascot, Sir Purr a beloved fixture of football in the Carolinas, is in his 16th season with the Panthers. Armed with nimble feet, a great smile and one huggable belly, this cat is best known for his silly antics and creative skits that can be seen on game day. He also makes numerous appearances including visits to hospitals, schools, charity and corporate events.

Sir Purr has entertained crowds not only locally, but nationally. His ability to make people smile and bring out the child in everyone has the caught the eyes of fans everywhere. Sir Purr has performed at the NFL Pro Bowl in Hawaii, Celebrity Mascot Games in Florida, Chinese New Year Parade in Hong Kong and Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade in New York.

Make your next event PURR-fect by inviting the coolest cat in the Carolinas, Sir Purr! Contact the Carolina Panthers Mascot Department at 704-358-7450 or log on to www.panthers.com/sirpurr.

THE TOPCATS

PRESENTED BY

GOLDTOE MORETZ

In 2010, the team is proud to welcome back the TopCats, cheerleaders for the Carolina Panthers. The TopCats represent all regions of the Carolinas and range in age from 21 to 33. Their careers are in a variety of distinguished professions, including business, finance, medicine and teaching. The TopCats help cheer the Panthers to victory and entertain fans at every home game at Bank of America Stadium.

Auditions for the TopCats are a comprehensive and intense process. The final squad members are chosen based on their personalities, showmanship, dance skills, professionalism and physical fitness.

Tina Becker serves as the cheerleader/mascot programs manager and oversees all aspects of both programs. She was a member of the TopCats inaugural squad in 1996 and spent three years as a Panthers cheerleader before joining the TopCats staff in 1999.

Richelle Grant is the TopCats choreographer and coordinator. Grant is a five-year veteran of the TopCats squad and joined the TopCats staff in 2005. She also cheered at the University of South Carolina, where she earned a BA in communications.

The TopCats are visible throughout the Carolinas at corporate appearances and charitable events.

The Panthers cheerleading squad is sponsored by GoldToe Moretz, exclusive supplier of all apparel and sockwear to the TopCats.

The Carolina Panthers summer training camp home is at Wofford College in Spartanburg, S.C. The Panthers are housed in Wofford's sterling 60,000 square-foot Richardson Physical Activities Building, which boasts a spacious weight room, locker room and training facilities in addition to coaches offices and meeting rooms.

A member of the Southern Conference and NCAA Division I, Wofford is one of the smallest school in the nation playing Division I football with its enrollment of 1,450. The Terriers compete in the Football Championship Subdivision (FCS), formerly known as Division I-AA. Over the last decade, Wofford is one of the SoCon's winningest football programs with a 74-43 overall record.

The 2003 Terrier football team captured the Southern Conference championship and advanced to the FCS national semifinals. In 2007, Wofford won the Southern Conference title and defeated Montana in the first round of the FCS playoffs. The Terriers reached the FCS playoffs again in the 2008 season.

Wofford football coach Mike Ayers was the 2003 recipient of the Eddie Robinson Award as the Division I-AA National Coach of the Year. He has been named SoCon Coach of the Year four times, most recently in 2007. He is among the winningest active coaches in the nation with 141 victories in 21 seasons.

Academically, Wofford's football team is traditionally among the top 10 percent in the nation as judged by the Academic Progress Rate (APR). The Terriers have placed 86 student-athletes on the Academic All-Southern Conference team in the last seven years, more than double the number of the second place team. Wofford has had at least 10 players on the academic squad each year, including 14 in 2009.

The Wofford men's basketball team won the 2010 Southern Conference Championship and advanced to the NCAA Tournament for the first time in school history, where the team was defeated by Wisconsin.

Head Coach Mike Young was named the national Mid-Major Coach of the Year and Noah Dahlman earned All-America honors. In 2009, the men's soccer team also won the Southern Conference championship and earned a bid to the NCAA Tournament. The baseball team has defeated South Carolina and Tennessee in the last three years and in 2007 won the Southern Conference Tournament Championship and advanced to the NCAA Tournament.

Among its alumni, the athletic program counts Panthers Owner/Founder Jerry Richardson as well as former Air Force head football coach Fisher DeBerry and ESPN personality Wendi Nix. Wofford receives strong support from its alumni and friends. The Terrier Club, with 100 percent of all contributions supporting scholarships for Wofford student-athletes, raised a record $1.5 million in 2009.

Wofford consistently lands on 'best value' lists in various national college guides and publications. Among those are the 2009 editions of Kiplinger's Personal Finance, US News and World Report and The Princeton Review. The Village, Wofford's apartment-style housing for senior students, has also received a number of national recognitions.

Having conducted its first session during the 1854-55 academic year, Wofford is one of only a handful of American colleges of that era to have operated continuously on its original site. Over 5,000 'noble trees' have been planted since 1992. The entire 150-acre campus is maintained as a national arboretum.

Wofford ranks fifth in the nation among baccalaureate institutions in the percentage of students receiving academic credit for studies abroad. The first independent college in South Carolina to receive a chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, Wofford has a proud history. Among its graduates are the founders of Duke and Vanderbilt universities, the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools and the National Beta Club.

PANTHERS HALL OF HONOR

On September 21, 1997 former team president Mike McCormack became the first member of the Panthers Hall of Honor. In 1998, he was joined by former linebacker Sam Mills, who entered as the first former Panthers player to be so honored.

Both Mills and McCormack, who retired as president of the Carolina Panthers in March 1996, were recognized for their high contributions to the Panthers organization with a life-sized bronze statue sculpted by Todd Andrews, who created the famous bronze Panthers that flank each stadium entrance. The statues were placed at the northeast corner of the stadium where they will be joined by statues of future inductees.

"There is no one more appropriate than Mike to start our Hall of Honor," said Panthers Owner/Founder Jerry Richardson at the time of McCormack's induction. "The Carolina Panthers would not even exist without Mike's contributions, and he epitomizes all we want the Panthers to symbolize."

While McCormack's National Football League career spanned five decades and a number of teams, he may have left his most indelible mark on the Panthers. Starting as a consultant in 1989, McCormack provided an invaluable contact for the Richardson ownership group as they lobbied NFL ownership and hierarchy for credibility early in the expansion process. After the Panthers overcame overwhelming odds to land the franchise by a unanimous vote in October 1993, McCormack was first general manager before being named president.

"Mike provided a road map for our organization, and we have reaped the benefits of his foresight and experience," says successor Mark Richardson. "By his induction as the original member of our Hall of Honor, it sets a high standard for all who follow."

If anyone could meet McCormack's standard it is Mills, who became a Panthers standard-bearer.

"Sam Mills has meant a lot to this organization and has set a high standard for our players both on and off the field. It is only fitting that he is recognized with the Carolina Panthers highest honor," said Jerry Richardson.

While Mills had a long NFL career, his accomplishments with the Panthers were the basis of his selection. His memorable interception return for a touchdown spurred Carolina to the first win in team history in 1995, and his interception against Dallas sealed the Panthers win in the NFC divisional playoff following the 1996 season.

Mills played 15 years as a professional, starting 171-of-181 NFL games and earning five Pro Bowl selections. Mills appeared in his final Pro Bowl as a representative of the Panthers in 1996 at the age of 37.

Regarded as one of the most savvy players in the game, Mills led his team in tackles 10 times and eclipsed the 100-tackle plateau in eight seasons. As a prized unrestricted free agent in 1995, he became the cornerstone of the Panthers defense and was the only player to start every game during the Panthers first three seasons.

With McCormack and Mills, an administrator and coach were recognized in the Hall of Honor. In the opening regular season game against Green Bay in 2004, the PSL owners who made the stadium and franchise possible were also honored at halftime. The Panthers sold over 60,000 Permanent Seat Licenses to help fund the construction of Bank of America Stadium.

"The stadium and team would not be here without the PSL Owners and they have been the backbone of our support," says President Mark Richardson. "It was appropriate to include them in the Hall of Honor for making a NFL franchise in the Carolinas a reality."

PANTHERS SPANISH RADIO

The Carolina Panthers are partnering with Norsan Multimedia's WOLS/106.1 FM La Raza to broadcast all games of the 2010 season in Spanish.

Play-by-play for Carolina Panthers Spanish radio broadcasts will be handled by Jaime Moreno. During Jaime's 18-year local radio sports broadcasting career, he has covered the NFL with a primary focus on the Panthers. He will be joined in the booth by color analyst, Luis Moreno Jr., who has seven years of local sports radio broadcasting history on local Spanish-speaking stations including coverage of the NFL along with other major sports leagues. Jaime and Luis will anchor a four-hour game day broadcast of all twenty Carolina Panthers games in the 2010 season including half-hour shows for both post-game and pre-game.

Jaime Moreno was born in Mexico City, Mexico and is currently living in Huntersville, NC. He played football for 15 years in Mexico as a running back earning a college scholarship on a team that won the 1983 collegiate national championship in his country. Luis Moreno Jr., Jaime's nephew, was also born in Mexico City, Mexico and is now living in Kannapolis, NC. After playing youth football in Mexico from 1988-1992, Luis distinguished himself as a stand out football player and four sport athlete at Charlotte Catholic High School where he became the school's rushing leader after four years amassing 400 yards and 53 TD's while earning team MVP honors in 1996 and all-state honors in 1996 and 1997.

Norsan Multimedia currently owns and operates 12 radio stations in the Southeast with multiple formats. Four of their radio stations are located in Charlotte, North Carolina with the others in Greensboro, North Carolina, Columbia, South Carolina, Jacksonville, Florida and Knoxville, Tennessee.

WOLS 106.1 FM La Raza, the flagship for the 2010 Carolina Panthers Spanish Radio broadcasts, will be joined by other regional network radio stations including but not limited to:

Charlotte, NC	WOLS 106.1 FM
Columbia, SC	WCEO 940 AM
Raleigh, NC	WCLY 1550 AM
Greensboro, NC	WIST 98.3 FM

MEDIA INFORMATION

CREDENTIALS: Media who have not received credentials for the season may request them on a game-by-game basis. Credential requests MUST be made through media.panthers.com. User name is panthersmedia and password is carolina. Requests should be received no later than the Tuesday prior to the game. Reserved credentials will be available at Press Check-In at the Southwest corner of the stadium.

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Photographers with accredited media outlets on an immediate deadline may request credentials on a game-by-game basis from the Panthers Communications Department. Credentials WILL NOT be issued to freelance photographers unless granted special approval by the Panthers.

PRESS BOX: All media should enter through press gate adjacent to Press Will Call at the Southwest corner of the stadium. Turn right after entering and proceed down hallway to press box elevator. Take elevator to 4th Floor (Club Level Two) and exit elevator to the right.

LOCKER ROOMS: Both locker rooms are located on the ground level of Bank of America Stadium. From press box, take the elevator to field level and exit left through double doors and turn right down tunnel. Take first left along main service tunnel and proceed to visiting locker room A on left. For Panthers locker room, continue down service tunnel and enter through designated entrance on left marked "Panthers Meeting Rooms."

POSTGAME INTERVIEWS: The Carolina Panthers and the National Football League ask for cooperation by not interviewing players on the field after the game. Both teams and their head coaches are available for interviews 12 minutes after the conclusion of the game in each locker room and in each team's designated postgame interview area. Your cooperation is greatly appreciated.

PARKING: Parking at Bank of America Stadium is extremely limited. Media are encouraged to stay in Uptown Charlotte hotels since they are within walking distance of the stadium. Please direct all parking requests to Deedee Mills at (704) 358-7000.

TELEPHONES: Media who wish to have their own press box telephones should direct their requests to Judy Clark with BellSouth at (704) 733-1317.

CHARLOTTE AIRPORT TO STADIUM/TEAM OFFICES:

Who's got your back when it's all on the line?

Teams rise or fall based on their commitment to excellence and strength of purpose. The same goes for your healthcare. That's why the Carolina Panthers chose Carolinas Medical Center – the region's preferred healthcare provider for over a decade – to cover their back. We provide more specialists and specialties, more advanced and innovative technology and more exceptional doctors to choose from. It's why more families throughout our region also choose us to cover all their medical needs.
